THIRTIETH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

DIRECTORS OF THE

CHICAGO PUBLIC LIBRARY.

TO THE HONORABLE THE MAYOR AND MEMBERS OF THE CITY COUNCIL:

Gentlemen: The Board of Directors of the Chicago Public Library, in compliance with the Act of the General Assembly relating to public libraries in the State, presents herewith its annual report for the year ending May 31, 1902.

The total expenditures of the Library during the past year were $231,628.03. At the close of the Library year the institution contained 279,686 volumes and 51,845 unbound pamphlets. The entire accessions of the year numbered 15,609 volumes, of which 12,066 were purchased, 2,012 were donated, and 1,531 were acquired by binding periodicals from the various reading-rooms. The aggregate recorded circulation of books in all departments of the Library (not including the use of books and periodicals on the open shelves, of which no record was kept) was 2,230,580 volumes. The home circulation numbered 1,701,540 volumes, of which 1,123,406, or about 66 per cent., were issued through the sixty-seven delivery stations. The number of persons holding two-year cards which entitle them to draw books for home reading is 76,344. The attendance in the reading and reference rooms and the use of books and periodicals therein has been about the same as the number reported last year. At the six branch reading-rooms 197,577 readers consulted 88,067 volumes and 180,939 periodicals. For more detailed statistics regarding the operation of the Library we refer to the reports of the Librarian and Secretary presented herewith.

The question of bringing about closer relations between the Library and the public schools has been under consideration during the past year. Although many of the branch reading-rooms and delivery stations are located in the vicinity of school buildings and enable the pupils to secure the benefits of the Library without going a great distance from their homes, it has been suggested that the usefulness of the Public Library could be extended by establishing reading-rooms in some of the school buildings. After a number of conferences held with the Board of Education and the school principals it was decided by the Directors to try the experiment in two of the buildings selected by the Superintendent of Schools, but lack of funds prevented the plan from being carried out this year.

It is with extreme gratification that we report the offer of a resident of this city, Mrs. T. B. Blackstone, to erect for the people of Chicago a building to be used as a branch of the Public Library. The record of the offer and the resolution of the Board of Directors accepting the same is as follows:

"CHICAGO, October 24, 1901.

"CHAS. A. PLAMONDON, ESQ., PRESIDENT, AND BOARD OF DIRECTORS, CHICAGO PUBLIC LIBRARY:

"Gentlemen: Mrs. T. B. Blackstone, of this city, whom I represent, desires to erect and present to the City of Chicago a branch public library building as a memorial to her late husband, to be known as the T. B. Blackstone Memorial Branch Library.

"The site for this library has been selected and purchased and is located at the intersection of Forty-ninth Street, Lake and Washington Avenues.

"I have the pleasure to submit herewith plans for the proposed building for your inspection and approval.

"Very respectfully,

"WM. J. BRYSON."

"Resolved, That the Board of Directors of the Chicago Public Library gratefully accepts in behalf of the people of Chicago the offer of Mrs. T. B. Blackstone to erect at the intersection of Forty-ninth Street, Lake and Washington Avenues, a building to be known as the T. B. Blackstone Memorial Branch Library, and to be used as a branch of the Chicago Public Library, and approves of the plans and name for the proposed building which have been submitted to this Board."

The design of the building, which is now being erected, is in the pure Grecian Ionic style of architecture. The materials used are white granite for the exterior and Italian marble for the interior. The plans provide for reading and reference rooms, a room for young people, librarian's and cataloguers' rooms, a circulating-room, and a shelving capacity for 25,000 books.

The resources of the Board are each year greatly reduced by the enormous loss sustained by the Library fund on account of the County Clerk's charges for extending the taxes and the County Collector's fees for collecting them. These charges, together with the losses from non-collection, forfeitures, etc., amounted for the tax levy of 1899 to no less than $18,609.88, and for the year 1900 to $16,219.08. The question of obtaining relief from such excessive costs has been taken up and has been referred to a Special Committee, and the Library Board respectfully solicits the co-operation of your honorable body and of the law and finance departments of the city in an endeavor to reach a satisfactory solution of this problem.

Under the operation of the Juul law the tax levy of one mill on the dollar scarcely produces revenue sufficient for the ordinary current expenses of the Library, and any expansion of its work cannot even be considered. With the present methods of making the assessment and levying the tax the Library Board does not know how much money it may expend until near the end of the year for which the levy is made; hence in order to keep within the probable amount of the levy during the current year it has laid off sixty-nine of its employees, directed the Library to be closed on Sundays, holidays, and evenings, closed all branch reading-rooms in the forenoon, and cut off half the deliveries of books to the delivery stations, thus crippling the work in all departments.

With this condition upon us you are again reminded of the sums of money due the Library fund from the city, namely, $40,917.90 for moneys expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works in finishing up the fourth floor of the City Hall for library purposes, which money was to be refunded upon the vacation of said rooms; and $23,534.44 erroneously transferred from the Library fund to the general fund of the city by the City Council on March 1, 1880, and not yet restored.

The Directors desire to record their satisfaction with the efficient service of their Librarian and Secretary, as well as the entire working force of the Library. The average salary paid the employees is considerably less than in any other department of the city government, yet the standard of efficiency and the quality of the services rendered by the employees of this Board are such as to entitle them to better compensation.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN.

TO THE DIRECTORS OF THE CHICAGO PUBLIC LIBRARY:

Gentlemen: I have the honor to submit herewith the thirtieth annual report covering the operations of the Library for the year ending May 31, 1902.

The most serious setback which the Library has experienced since its organization, has been brought on by the reduction in the appropriation for its maintenance, due to the operation of the Juul law. The radical steps which were taken to keep the expenses of the institution within the means at the command of the Board resulted in laying off one-third of the working force on May 9, 1902. The Library was ordered closed evenings at 6:30 o'clock, and on Sundays and holidays. The branch reading-rooms were closed during the morning hours. The sixty-seven delivery stations, instead of a daily delivery of books, receive only three deliveries a week. The purchase of books was restricted, and only the newer and more popular books are being bought. The immediate effect of these retrenchments was shown in the circulation, which fell off about thirty per cent.

The aggregate circulation of books in all departments of the Library was 2,230,580 volumes, a decrease of 88,999 volumes from the number reported last year. These figures do not include the use of open-shelf books and periodicals, of which no record is kept.

GROWTH OF THE LIBRARY.

The entire number of volumes in the Library on May 31, 1902, was 279,686, an increase of 7,410 over the number reported at the close of last year. The total number of volumes entered in the accession catalogue was 15,609, of which 12,066 volumes were purchased, 2,012 were donated, and 1,531 were acquired by binding periodicals from the reading-rooms. The number of unbound pamphlets received was 2,040, making the entire number now in the Library 51,845. In addition to the above there is a collection of about 6,000 volumes of unlisted duplicates comprising chiefly public documents.

There were deducted during the year from the total number of books in the Library the following items: Books worn out and withdrawn from circulation, 7,570; books lost and paid for, 529; books unaccounted for in the annual inventory of 1900-1901, 148; books not recovered from delinquent book-borrowers in 1900-1901, 30. Of the books worn out and withdrawn from circulation 3,731 were English prose fiction, 2,736 juvenile books, 751 books in foreign languages, and 352 in all other classes. In Appendix B is shown the classification of the accessions of the year and the extent of each class in the Library.

The amount expended for books was $14,352.00. Among the most noteworthy additions made to the reference collection were the following: Airy. Charles II.; Armstrong. Sir Joshua Reynolds; Botanical Gazette, 30 volumes; Brongniart et Riocreux. Description du Musée Ceramique de Sèvres; Chroniken der deutschen Städte, 27 volumes; Clowes. The Royal Navy, 6 volumes; Cust. The National Gallery, 3 volumes; Facsimile of the Utrecht Psalter; Furtwängler. Die antiken Gemmen, 3 volumes; Gravina. Il Duomo di Monreale, 2 volumes; Hildebrandt. Heraldische Meisterwerke; Historic Memoirs of the Courts of Europe, 27 volumes; Lapidario del Rey Alfonso X.; Livre d' Heures de la Reigne Anne de Bretagne, 2 volumes; Lydekker. Deer of all Lands; Lydekker. Great and Small Game of Europe, Asia, and America; Nolhae. Louis XIV.; Patten. The Book of Sport; Ross. Florentine Villas; Staudinger und Schatz. Exotische Schmetterlinge, 3 volumes; Steinmann. Die Sixtinische Kapelle; Victoria History of the Counties of England, 10 volumes; Voltaire. Works, translated, 42 volumes; Wedmore. Turner and Ruskin, 2 volumes.

DONATIONS.

The donations of books to the Library during the past year comprised 2,012 volumes and 1,766 pamphlets. Mr. Robert S. McCormick presented a large collection of clippings from European newspapers relating to the assassination of President McKinley. These have been neatly mounted on card-board and when bound will form about eight large folio volumes. Mr. McCormick also presented a fine engraving of George Washington, which has been appropriately framed and hung in the Directors' room. Mr. Jacob Franks gave a large engraving of Christopher Columbus as a companion piece to the above. Mr. Victor F. Lawson presented 102 volumes of newspapers, chiefly files of the Chicago Daily News. From the various departments of the United States Government at Washington were received 442 volumes and 553 pamphlets. The British Patent Commissioners gave 90 volumes of specifications and drawings, including a complete set of the Trade Marks Journal from 1889 to 1900. Among the other principal donors were the American Transvaal League, 20 volumes; Mr. Charles W. Brown, 23 volumes; Mr. A. D. Engelsman, 42 volumes; Hon. James P. Mann, 153 volumes; Michigan State Library, 18 volumes and 33 pamphlets; Minnesota University, 19 volumes; Minnesota Secretary of State, 26 volumes; New York Board of Education, 22 volumes; Ohio Secretary of State, 26 volumes; Mr. O. W. Ruggles, 52 volumes, comprising a valuable collection of scrap-books relating to railroads; Mr. C. A. Sawyer, 103 volumes; Mrs. J. E. Seifert, 31 volumes; Mr. Charles H. Sergel, 17 volumes; Mr. E. C. Woolley, 24 volumes. A complete list of donors is given in Appendix E.

CIRCULATING DEPARTMENT.

The circulating department was open for the delivery of books on 303 week days, 49 Sundays, and 6 holidays. The entire home circulation was 1,701,540 volumes, a decrease of 71,201 volumes from the previous year. The daily average week-day circulation was 5,577, against a daily average of 5,818 reported last year. The average number of books issued on Sundays and holidays was 275. The largest number of books issued on any one day was 9,354, on February 24, 1902; the smallest number, 2,642, on May 1, 1902. The receipts from fines paid by delinquent borrowers amounted to $7,427.06. The number of notices sent to borrowers and guarantors was 12,703. The home circulation for the past two years, month by month, is shown in the following table:

REGISTRATION.

The total registration during the two years ending May 31, 1902, was 82,217. During this period there were canceled for various reasons 5,507 cards, leaving the number of "live cards," which entitle the holders to draw books for home use, at 76,344. The number reported last year was 75,109. The classification of the registration by sexes shows that 43,521 cards were issued to males, and 38,696 to females. Of the total number of cards issued during the year 15,665 were applied for at the main library and 26,245 at the delivery stations.

DELIVERY STATIONS.

Two additional delivery stations were opened during the year, making the number now in operation sixty-seven. Of these thirteen are located in the North Division, twenty-five in the South Division, and twenty-nine in the West Division. Sixty-six per cent. of the entire number of books issued for home reading were sent out through these stations. The 1,123,406 volumes so circulated show a falling off of 40,914 from the report of the previous year.

The amount expended for the compensation of keepers of Delivery Stations and for the transportation of books was $19,009.37 for the eleven months from June 1, 1901, to April 30, 1902, being an average cost of 1.79 cents for each volume circulated. On May 1, 1902, the system of transporting the books between the Library and stations was changed. Since 1885 this work had been done by contract. With a view of obtaining a more satisfactory service the Library procured its own equipment of horses, harness, and delivery wagons. Three drivers were hired and under the present schedule three deliveries a week are made to each station. As the experiment is only a month old a comparison as to cost with the former method of doing this work cannot yet be made.

In Appendixes C and D will be found the detailed statistics of the various stations showing also the location of each station and the persons in charge.

PATENT DEPARTMENT AND PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

The number of visitors to the patent room was 21,134. The recorded use of patent office records was 86,040 volumes and of public documents 9,150 volumes. There were also consulted in this department 4,525 volumes of bound newspapers and 1,243 volumes of scientific magazines.

BOOKS FOR THE BLIND.

The collection of books for the blind in the Library now numbers 764 volumes. There were loaned out for home use 1,152 volumes, an increase of 294 over the previous year. Only 84 volumes were used in the Library.

REFERENCE DEPARTMENT.

The number of recorded visitors to the reference-room was 117,580, a decrease of 4,129 from the previous year. There were issued from the stacks for use in this department 311,984 volumes. These figures do not represent the entire use of this room, as no count is kept of the open-shelf books consulted. The average number of readers at the close of each hour from 9 A. M. to 10 P. M. was sixty-six. The largest attendance in the room throughout the year was at 4 o'clock, P. M., the average number of persons present at that hour being 109. In the special room for art books 8,522 readers consulted 27,947 volumes.

READING-ROOM.

The average attendance in the reading-room at the close of each hour of the day from 9 A. M. to 10 P. M. was 189. The largest average attendance was at 3 o'clock P. M., when 261 readers were present. No record was kept of the use of newspapers and periodicals, as nearly all the serials on file in the room are directly accessible to readers.

The amount expended for newspapers and magazines was $4,441.89. In Appendix F is given a list of serials which were donated to the Library. The following table shows the nationality and frequency of publication of the 1,119 periodicals on file in the main reading-room.

BRANCH READING-ROOMS.

There has been no change in the location of any of the six branch reading-rooms during the past year. The aggregate attendance, which was 197,577, was only a little less than the report of the previous year. The issues of periodicals numbered 180,939 and of books 88,067 volumes. The additions to the reference libraries in the various rooms numbered 282 volumes. There were also added 21 new periodicals. The detailed statistics of each room are given in the following table:

FINDING LISTS AND CARD CATALOGUES.

The following publications were issued by the Library during the past year: Three bulletins (Nos. 55, 57, and 58) comprising lists of the new accessions; a supplement to the catalogue of English prose fiction and juvenile books; special bulletins, Nos. 2 and 3, containing reading lists on Easter, Hallowe'en, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas; the first part of the eighth revised edition of the finding lists comprising History and Biography (365 pages). The amount derived from the sale of finding lists and bulletins was $841.12.

The new accessions have been promptly catalogued for both the official and public card catalogues as soon as received. The Library has subscribed for the Library of Congress catalogue cards of new books and it is expected that a considerable saving in time and money can be made by using these cards in the various catalogues. The rapid growth of the public card catalogue has made it necessary to provide more room for the same, and a new case with a capacity of over 500,000 cards has been ordered. The value of this catalogue as a key to the Library is plainly evident from the number of readers who are constantly consulting it and from the signs of wear which many of the cards are beginning to show.

ADMINISTRATION.

There were employed in all departments of the Library service on May 1, 1902, 212 persons. The reduction of the force ordered by the Library Board on account of shortage of funds decreased the number of employees to 146 on May 31, 1902. The amount expended for salaries during the year was $135,678.76. The various transactions with the Civil Service Commission during the year are analyzed in the following table:

BINDING.

There have been bound in the three binderies with which the Library has contracts, 31,394 books, of which 23,648 were newly bound or rebound, and 7,746 were resewed in the old covers. The attendants at the Library repaired 68,789 volumes; 3,901 volumes were repaired at the binderies. The entire number of books re-labeled during the year was 123,344.

The amount expended for binding was $12,790.69.

ANNUAL INVENTORY.

The annual inventory, which was taken in the usual manner, without closing the Library, showed 181 books unaccounted for. Of the 192 volumes reported missing last year, 44 have since been found.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK H. HILD,
Librarian.

THIRTY-FIRST ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
DIRECTORS OF THE
CHICAGO PUBLIC LIBRARY.

TO THE HONORABLE THE MAYOR AND MEMBERS OF THE CITY COUNCIL:

Gentlemen: The Directors of the Chicago Public Library have the honor to submit herewith their thirty-first annual report as required by the Act of the General Assembly relating to public libraries in the State.

In order to place the finances of the Library on a business basis, the Board has found it necessary to continue the policy of retrenchment and economy inaugurated over a year ago. The effect of the various measures to keep the expenditures within the available funds is shown in the retarded growth of the book collection and in the falling off of the use of the Library in some of its departments, the latter being chiefly due to the closing of the institution on evenings and Sundays, and to the curtailment of the delivery stations service. The purchase of books has been confined almost entirely to the new and current publications which were most needed in the circulating department, but these were procured in only such a limited number of copies that they fell short of meeting the demands of the readers.

The number of bound volumes on hand May 31, 1903, was 285,087, a net increase of 5,401 over the previous year. The total accessions numbered 9,110 volumes, of which 6,513 were purchased. There were withdrawn from circulation 3,116 volumes which had been worn out. The aggregate recorded circulation of books in all departments of the Library, not including the use of open shelf books, was 1,609,983 volumes. The home circulation numbered 1,165,588 volumes, a falling off of thirty-one per cent. from the report for the previous year. In the department of delivery stations occurred the most noticeable decrease in the use of the Library. The substitution of a tri-weekly for a daily delivery of books sometimes caused so long a wait in exchanging books that readers became discouraged and stopped using their cards. The circulation of books for home use through the sixty-eight delivery stations fell from 1,123,406 volumes, the number reported last year, to 622,972 volumes. The number of two-year cards outstanding is 66,787, or 9,557 less than the last report.

During the entire year the reference and reading rooms were closed daily at 6:30 p. m., and remained closed on Sundays. In these rooms the average hourly attendance shows no decrease from the statistics of the previous year. The aggregate attendance at the six branch reading rooms was 162,191 readers, who consulted 157,247 periodicals and 77,440 books.

Last year the Board called the attention of your honorable body to the shortage in our funds due to the present manner of levying and extending the taxes, and set forth the method adopted to bring its expenditures within the limit of the tax levy. It is now pleased to report that instead of closing the year 1902 with little or no balance to the credit of its fund, there was to its credit $67,036.08. The amount expended for the year ending May 31, 1902, was $240,388.70, and for the year ending May 31, 1903, $161,723.35, showing a reduction for the year of $78,665.35. The economical management in force last year is still practiced, but the Board believes that it will be feasible to open the Library in the evening and on Sundays and to resume the daily delivery of books to the delivery stations in the coming fall and still keep within the estimate of about $15,000 per month for the year; a sum deemed sufficient for current and ordinary expenses.

The Board would again remind you of certain moneys due the Library fund from the city government, aggregating $64,452.34, and ventures to hope that this obligation will be met at an early day either from the proceeds of the sale of bonds or by direct appropriation by the City Council. This amount, together with the unexpended balances of present appropriations would, it is confidently believed, enable the Library Board to maintain the Library during the year 1904 without the sale of anticipation time warrants, thus effecting a saving of about $10,000 in interest.

For further details concerning the operation of the Library we refer you to the reports of the Librarian and Secretary hereunto appended. The Board desires to record its appreciation of the faithful services of these officers, as well as of the entire corps of Library employees during the past year. The reduction in the working force of the Library and the enforcement of a month's vacation without pay put to severe test the loyalty of those employees who remained in the service. Their devotion to their duties under the circumstances commends them to the good-will of the Board of Directors.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN.

TO THE DIRECTORS OF THE CHICAGO PUBLIC LIBRARY:

Gentlemen: I have the honor to present herewith the thirty-first annual report covering the operations and statistics of the Library for the year ending May 31, 1903.

The policy of retrenchment which the Library Board found it necessary to inaugurate in May, 1902, has continued during the past year. The entire amount expended for the maintenance of the Library was $148,957.99, or $82,670.04 less than for the previous year. The Library has remained closed on evenings, Sundays and holidays during the entire year, and the delivery stations have continued to receive only a tri-weekly instead of a daily delivery of books. The purchase of new books has been restricted chiefly to the current American and English publications and only a limited number of copies of the more popular books have been procured. The aggregate circulation of books in all departments of the Library was 1,609,983, a decrease of 620,597 volumes from the number reported last year. In the statistical tables in Appendix A will be found a comparison of various items of last year's work of the Library with the reports of previous years.

GROWTH OF THE LIBRARY.

The entire number of volumes in the Library on May 31, 1903, was 285,087, an increase of 5,401 over the number reported at the close of last year. The total number of volumes entered in the accessions catalogue was 9,110, of which 6,513 volumes were purchased, 1,581 were donated and 1,016 were acquired by binding periodicals from the reading rooms. The number of unbound pamphlets now on hand is 53,374, an increase of 1,529 during the year. Of unlisted duplicates, comprising chiefly public documents, there are about 6,000 volumes in the Library.

There were deducted during the year from the total number of volumes in the Library the following items: Books worn out and withdrawn from circulation, 3,116; books lost and paid for, 399; books unaccounted for in the annual inventory of 1901-1902, 152; books not recovered from delinquent borrowers in 1901-1902, 42. Of the books worn out and withdrawn from circulation, 1,468 were English prose fiction, 1,284 were juvenile books, 273 were books in foreign languages, and 91 in all the other classes. In Appendix B is shown the classification of the accessions of the year and the extent of each class in the Library.

The amount expended for books was $8,122.23. Among the more valuable additions to the reference collection the following are worthy of mention: Album Paléographique; Brinkley. The Art of Japan, 2 volumes; Corner and Soderholtz. Colonial Architecture in New England; Cust. National Portrait Gallery, 2 volumes; Dobson. William Hogarth; Druckschriften des XV.-XVI. Jahrhunderts in Nachbildungen; Ebhardt. Deutsche Burgen, 4 volumes; Engler und Prantl. Die Natürlichen Pflanzenfamilien, 26 volumes; Foster. The Stuarts, 2 volumes; Gerlach. Allegorien (Neue Folge); Gurlitt. Historische Städtebilder, 2 volumes; Hartwig. Die griechischen Meisterschalen, 2 volumes; Hodgkin. Rariora: Notes on Printed Books; Junghandel und Gurlitt. Die Bankunst Spaniens, 3 volumes; Konody. Art of Walter Crane; Leyland. Gardens, Old and New, 2 volumes; Libros de Autoño mevamente dados á luz, 15 volumes; Licht. Architektur der Gegenwart, 4 volumes; Memorial Historico Español; Coleccion de Documentos, 40 volumes; Memorias de la Real Academia de los Historia, 11 volumes; Möbel und Zimmereinrichtung der Gegenwart; Monumenta Palæographica Sacra; Oesterreichisch-Ungarische Revue, 28 volumes; Olbrich. Architektur, 6 volumes; Palæographical Society Publications, 5 volumes; Pollard. Henry VIII.; Remon. Moderne Möbel; Royal Colonial Institute Proceedings, 33 volumes; Sarre Denkmäler persischer Bankunst; Schmiedearbeiten der Gegenwart, 2 volumes; Shakespeare's Works (Facsimile of the first folio, 1623);

Shaw. Decorative Arts of the Middle Ages; Sociedad de Bibliófilos Andaluces, 25 volumes.

DONATIONS.

The donations of works to the Library during the past year comprised 1,581 volumes and 1,353 pamphlets. Hon. Carter H. Harrison presented 39 volumes; Hon. W. E. Mason, 32 volumes; the British Patent Commissioners gave 121 volumes of specifications and drawings. From the various departments of the United States Government at Washington the Library received 372 volumes and 448 pamphlets. Among the other principal donors were: Mr. W. M. Payne, 20 volumes; Mr. George H. Owen, 83 volumes; Charles W. Brown, 15 volumes; Michigan State Library, 33 volumes and 44 pamphlets; Miss A. L. Ostertag, 46 volumes; Philadelphia Book Company, 23 volumes; New York State Library, 79 volumes and 22 pamphlets; Mr. Louis Scheffler, 80 volumes. A complete list of donors is given in Appendix E.

CIRCULATING DEPARTMENT.

The circulating department was open for the delivery of books on 301 week-days. It was closed on Sundays and holidays during the entire year. The total home circulation was 1,165,588, a decrease of 535,952 volumes from the previous year. The daily average circulation was 3,872, against a daily average of 5,577 reported last year. The largest number of books issued on any one day was 5,226, on February 13, 1903; the smallest number, 2,826, on May 19, 1903. The amount received from fines paid by delinquent borrowers was $7,314.87. The number of notices sent to borrowers and guarantors was 13,938. The home circulation of the past two years, month by month, is shown in the following table:

CLASSIFICATION OF THE CIRCULATION.

The classification of the books issued for home reading, showing the number of volumes and the percentage of each class, is as follows:

	Volumes.	Per Cent.
English Prose Fiction.....	545,029	46.76
Juvenile Literature	310,979	26.68
History and Biography	73,199	6.28
Geography and Travels	36,366	3.12
Sciences and Arts	66,672	5.72
Poetry and Drama	18,066	1.55
Miscellaneous	32,753	2.81
Foreign Languages	82,524	7.08
	1,165,588	100.00

REGISTRATION.

The total registration during the two years ending May 31, 1903, was 72,853. There were canceled during this period, for various reasons, 6,066 cards, leaving the number of "live cards" which entitle the holder to draw books for home reading at 66,787. This is a decrease of 9,557 from the number reported last year. The classification of the registration by sexes shows that 39,053 cards were issued to males and 33,800 to females. Of the total number of cards issued during the year 14,571 were applied for at the main Library, and 16,472 at the delivery stations.

DELIVERY STATIONS.

The greatest decrease in the use of the Library during the past year has been in the delivery stations. The substitution of a tri-weekly for a daily delivery of books, which sometimes necessitated a wait of three or four days between exchanges, discouraged many readers and caused them to cease using the stations. The entire circulation through the stations was 622,972 volumes, as against 1,123,406 for the previous year. Three delivery wagons were used for carrying the books. Under the daily delivery plan seven wagons were required. Only one additional station was opened during the year, making the number now in operation sixty-eight. Of these thirteen are located in the North Division of the city, twenty-five in the South Division and thirty in the West Division. The amount expended for the compensation of station-keepers was $10,382.58, or $8,626.79 less than for the year before.

Detailed statistics of the various stations showing their location and the persons in charge will be found in Appendixes C and D.

DEPARTMENT OF PATENTS AND PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

The attendance in the patent room numbered 20,006 readers. The recorded use of patent office reports was 84,605 volumes and of public documents 7,711 volumes. In addition there were used in this department 4,004 volumes of bound newspapers and 1,125 volumes of miscellaneous scientific magazines.

BOOKS FOR THE BLIND.

Twelve additional volumes were placed in the collection of books for the blind, which now numbers 776 volumes. The 974 volumes which were circulated during the year were chiefly issued through the stations. The call for these books for reference use at the Library was for only 47 volumes.

REFERENCE DEPARTMENT.

The recorded attendance in the reference room was 88,797. The number of volumes issued from the stack rooms for use in this department was 253,589. No record was kept of the use of books on the open shelves. The average number of readers at the close of each hour from 9 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. was seventy-five. The largest attendance throughout the year was at 4 o'clock p. m., the average number of readers at that hour being 108. The special room for art books, which was closed six months during the year, was visited by 4,493 readers who consulted 15,874 volumes.

READING ROOM.

The average attendance in the reading room at the close of each hour from 9 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. rose from 189 to 235 during the past year. The largest average attendance, which was at 3 o'clock p. m., was 294 as against 261 for the year before. As nearly all the newspapers and magazines are kept on open files and racks, it is impossible to give any statistics of their use.

The amount expended for newspapers and periodicals for all the reading rooms was $4,492.42. In Appendix F is given a list of the serials which are donated to the Library. The nationality and frequency of publication of the 1,164 periodicals on file in the main reading room is shown in the following table:

BRANCH READING ROOMS.

The Library has continued to operate six branch reading rooms in the same locations as last year. The decrease in attendance and in the use of books and periodicals at these rooms is due to the fact that they are open three hours less each day than formerly. The aggregate number of readers was 162,191, or 35,386 less than the year before. The issues of periodicals numbered 157,247 and of books 77,440 volumes. No additions were made to the collections of reference books in the various rooms, which now contain 12,009 volumes. The detailed statistics of each room are given in the following table:

FINDING LISTS AND CARD CATALOGUE.

The publications issued by the Library during the year consisted of four bulletins (Nos. 59-62) containing the lists of the new accessions. The preparation of copy for the revised edition of the finding lists was continued, and it is hoped that the printing of the same will soon be resumed. Finding lists and bulletins from the stock on hand were sold to the amount of $664.50.

Little progress was made on the public card catalogue beyond writing author and title cards for the new accessions. The reduction in the working force made it necessary to employ many of the cataloguers who were engaged on this work, in the circulating department during the busy hours. The official card catalogue has been kept complete to date, and a considerable saving in time and cost was effected by using the printed catalogue cards of the Library of Congress. The proofsheets of the Library of Congress cards have also been found a valuable aid in making up order lists for new books.

BINDING.

The number of books sent to the three binderies with which the Library has contracts was 16,793. Of these 12,074 were newly bound or rebound, and 4,719 were resewed in the old covers. The amount expended for binding was $7,032.60. The attendants at the Library repaired 59,685 volumes; 3,341 volumes were repaired at the binderies. There were relabeled during the year 61,780 books.

ADMINISTRATION.

The number of persons in the employ of the Library on June 1, 1902, was 146. During the year the transfers, dismissals and resignations numbered 60. To fill these vacancies the Civil Service Commission appointed 55 persons and at the close of the year five requisitions were still outstanding. The amount expended for salaries was $91,441.92.

ANNUAL INVENTORY.

The operation of taking the annual inventory of the Library was begun later than usual and for lack of sufficient help was not finished at the close of the year. The number of books still unaccounted for is 512. Of the 181 volumes reported missing last year, 40 have since been found.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK H. HILD, Librarian.

Chicago, June 25, 1903.

THIRTY-SECOND ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
BOARD OF DIRECTORS
OF THE
CHICAGO PUBLIC LIBRARY.

TO THE HONORABLE THE MAYOR AND MEMBERS OF THE CITY COUNCIL:

Gentlemen:—The Board of Directors of The Chicago Public Library has the honor to present to your honorable body its thirty-second annual report of the operation and condition of the Library, in accordance with the statutory requirements, being for the year ending May 31, 1904.

The work of the Library since the last report has increased considerably, owing to the fact that the Board has gradually opened up some of the departments which were wholly or partially closed on May 1, 1902. This is particularly true of the delivery station department, which circulated 662,896 volumes against 622,972 last year, being an increase of 39,924 volumes. The entire circulation of books for home use was 1,199,602.

On November 1, 1903, the evening service in the reference and reading rooms was resumed, as also was the daily delivery of books to the sixty-nine delivery stations.

The total amount expended the past year was $222,554.13, of which $115,002.13 was for salaries, $17,100.51 for books and periodicals and $10,002.80 for binding.

As a result of the economy which the Board has continued there were sold to June 1, 1904, only $30,000 worth of anticipation warrants against the tax levy of the current year, against $75,000 worth at the same time last year. Should your honorable body continue to appropriate for Library purposes the full amount allowed by the statutes, it will be but a short time until the finances of the Library will be upon a strictly cash basis.

It has been the desire of the Board to bring the benefits of the Library as near to the people as is consistent with its finances and hence it has established a large number of stations in the outlying districts where books may be exchanged free of charge daily. In addition to these there are five branch reading rooms in operation where students and readers may find from 1,500 to 2,000 volumes of standard works and a large number of the best reference books which may be consulted by all.

It is the policy of the Board to establish a branch reading room in every outlying ward in the city as fast as its finances will permit, believing that in this way the public will receive the greatest benefit from the Library. These conditions could be realized at an early day if your honorable body would make some arrangement whereby the sum of $64,452.34, acknowledged by your Finance Committee to be due the Library fund from the city, could be appropriated and be repaid to that fund. By continuing strict economy the amount that the Board has paid for interest in the past on borrowed funds can also be used for this purpose.

On January 2, 1904, the Library Board took over from Mrs. T. B. Blackstone the magnificent building donated by her in October, 1901. This building of granite and marble and mosaic, located at the corner of Forty-ninth street and Lake avenue, is known as the T. B. Blackstone Memorial Branch Library, and is to be supplied with books for circulation and with periodicals and papers for its reading rooms.

The attention of your honorable body is called to the following list of libraries in the city showing briefly the nature and field of each:

The Chicago Public Library; free, circulating and reference; books in all departments of literature; circulated for home use year ended May 31, 1904, 1,199,602 volumes; has one branch library, five branch reading rooms and sixty-nine delivery stations.

The Ryerson Library of the Art Institute; devoted to works of art; has about 3,000 volumes besides autotypes and photographs; open to art students and members of the institute.

Armour Institute Library; primarily for students of institute only; open to public for reference; 16,000 volumes.

Chicago Academy of Sciences; has 4,000 volumes; devoted to publications of learned societies; a reference library.

Field Columbian Museum; reference library of 13,000 volumes; scientific.

Hammond Library; reference; for use of students and faculty of Chicago Theological Seminary; 23,000 volumes.

Chicago Historical Society; reference historical library; 35,000 volumes.

The John Crerar Library; free reference library of scientific and technical literature; about 100,000 volumes devoted to social, physical and natural sciences and their application.

Lewis Institute; reference library; devoted to natural science, engineering and domestic economy; 10,000 volumes.

The Newberry Library; reference; free to public; strong in history, music, medicine and periodical literature; about 200,000 volumes.

St. Ignatius College Library; chiefly for use of faculty; about 29,000 volumes; devoted to works on the Bible, history, teaching, etc.

University of Chicago Library; for use of members of the University; contains 370,000 volumes; scientific, educational, biblical and general.

We have mentioned these various libraries and given briefly the fields they cover so that you may compare their work with that of the Library under our care. You will observe that the Public Library is the only one that extends its benefits to the great public and is at once a fountain of knowledge to the general reader and a university to the student and scholar.

For details of the financial condition of the Library and its general operations during the past year we refer you to the reports of the Secretary and Librarian hereto appended.

Respectfully submitted,

THE T. B. BLACKSTONE MEMORIAL.
BRANCH OF THE CHICAGO PUBLIC LIBRARY.

See page 19.

THE T. B. BLACKSTONE MEMORIAL.

The T. B. Blackstone Memorial Branch of the Chicago Public Library was formally dedicated at 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon, January 8, 1904. This building is a most notable addition to the monumental architecture of Chicago and the West and was erected by Mrs. T. B. Blackstone as a tribute to her husband, who was one of the most philanthropic and beloved citizens Chicago ever had. The building occupies the lot bounded on the east by Lake Avenue, on the west by Washington Avenue and on the north by Forty-ninth Street. The location at the intersection of these thoroughfares is ideal for architectural effect, and being in a thickly settled section close by the public school, fills a necessity long felt in this beautiful Kenwood district.

The building is 110 feet long and 60 feet wide. The main entrance is on Lake Avenue, up a broad flight of granite steps through a portico of Ionic columns. The colonnade projects from the building and is surmounted by a pediment, making the Lake Avenue façade the most prominent. There is a large circular granite seat raised upon a platform to the left of the entrance which adds much to the beauty of the approach front.

Passing through the spacious marble vestibule with its solid bronze doors of beautiful design, the central rotunda is reached. This is the focus point of the interior and from its center radiate the different departments of the library. To the right is the main reading room, to the left the delivery and stack rooms, and between these the children's room, all opening from this monumental rotunda. The librarian's room and cataloger's room open from the delivery room.

The rotunda is beautified with eight Ionic marble columns, niches and entablature, from which springs a graceful dome lighted by a leaded glass eye or dome light. In the four lunettes of the dome are Grover's fine decorative paintings—which stand for Literature, the Fine Arts, Science and Labor. The marble niches contain beautifully modeled bronze lamp standards.

Particular attention has been paid to the lighting of the dome pictures, the light flooding them from invisible sources, thus doing away at this point with the usual visible light fixtures.

The finish of the interior is of the finest selected foreign veined statuary marble, mahogany and marble mosaic. The light fixtures are especially beautiful in design and made of pure bronze and disposed with an eye to artistic effect.

The furniture is all of mahogany and specially designed for the building. The book stacks are of metal with bronze ends, arranged in a two storied stack and of sufficient capacity to hold about 30,000 books.

The main reading room is about 30x45 feet in size with a lofty ceiling in which is a beautiful leaded glass skylight. The other main rooms are similar in this respect, and all have mahogany wall cases for the storage of books.

The interior decorations are in rich warm gray tones with the ornamental plastering picked out in gold leaf. Altogether the interior is most charming and restful in its quiet refinement.

The exterior is entirely of gray Concord granite, monumental in design, beautiful in execution and with its columned portico, low dome and classic lines is most impressive. The building is thoroughly fireproof, built in a most substantial and enduring manner. The main doors, with their frames, all the window frames and other ornamental metal work are of solid bronze of carefully studied design.

The architectural style is the purest Grecian Ionic throughout and is carried to the highest point of refinement, being modeled on the order of the Eretheon of the Athenian Acropolis, a monument of antiquity acknowledged by all to be the most beautiful of the architectural orders.

The architect is S. S. Beman, who also designed the marble library building presented by Mr. T. B. Blackstone several years ago to Branford, Conn., his native city.

The pictorial decorations in the dome of the library consist of four lunette shaped panels, each measuring about fourteen by nine feet.

The subjects represented by the paintings are: "Literature," "Science," "Labor," and "Art" respectively, and each general motive is typified by a central female figure, enthroned and bearing appropriate allegorical symbols. The various divisions of each motive are represented by other figures male and female, grouped, the central and presiding genius thus forming a decorative group similar in artistic design and composition in all four panels, but essentially different in character of individual figures and details of costume and symbolism.

In the panel "Art" the divisions or branches of the subject used are Painting, Sculpture, Architecture and Music; in "Literature," Poetry, History, the Drama and Fiction are indicated. In "Science," we have Chemistry, Geology, Astronomy and Zoölogy, and in "Labor" the central figure bearing aloft the electric beacon of progress is surrounded by the figures of Agriculture, Mining, Manufacturing and Transportation.

These pictures are by Mr. O. D. Grover, who painted the pictures representing the evolution of the book, now in the dome of the Blackstone Memorial Library Building at Branford, Conn.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN.

TO THE DIRECTORS OF THE CHICAGO PUBLIC LIBRARY:

Gentlemen: I have the honor to present herewith the thirty-second annual report covering the operations and statistics of the Library for the year ending May 31, 1904.

The most notable event of the year was the opening of the first branch library of the Chicago Public Library. On Friday afternoon, January 8, 1904, Mrs. T. B. Blackstone transferred to the Library Board the beautiful building located at the intersection of Lake and Washington avenues and 49th street, known as the T. B. Blackstone Memorial. The building was thrown open to the public on the same day for inspection, and on the following Monday was opened for business. The 3,000 volumes which formed the reference collection in the Hyde Park reading room were transferred to this branch to form the nucleus of a collection of books to be housed there both for circulation and reference. Up to the close of the Library year no additions had been made to the collection on account of lack of funds, but it is hoped that before long means will be found to stock this branch library with a good selection of books for circulation and also to add to its reference collection. During the five months that the building has been open the average hourly attendance in the reading room and children's room has been 18 readers. Persons who desired to draw books for home reading have been able to do so through the delivery station service in the Library.

The aggregate circulation of books in all departments of the Library, not including the use of books on open shelves, was 1,721,186, an increase of 111,203 over the number reported last year. On November 1, 1903, the reference and reading rooms were again opened in the evening until 10 o'clock, and on Sundays and holidays from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. The circulating department hours were left as before, from 9 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. on week days. It was not until near the close of the Library year that the funds on hand warranted the purchase of new books and the replacement of worn-out books on a liberal scale. This lack of a sufficient supply of popular books has been the principal reason of the retarded increase in the home circulation towards the former rank held by this Library among institutions of its kind in this country. In the statistical tables appended to this report will be found comparative figures of last year's work with that of previous years.

GROWTH OF THE LIBRARY.

The entire number of volumes in the Library on May 31, 1904, was 290,277, an increase of 5,190 over the number reported at the close of last year. The total number of volumes entered in the accessions catalogue was 12,273, of which 9,239 volumes were purchased, 1,577 were donated and 1,457 were acquired by binding periodicals from the reading rooms. The number of unbound pamphlets in the Library is 55,378, an increase of 2,004 over last year's report. The unlisted duplicates on hand, comprising chiefly public documents and periodicals, number about 6,000 volumes.

There were deducted during the year from the total number of volumes in the Library the following items: Books worn out and withdrawn from circulation, 6,357; books lost and paid for, 351; books unaccounted for in the annual inventory of 1902-1903, 342; books not recovered from delinquent borrowers in 1902-1903, 33. Of the books worn out and withdrawn from circulation 3,043 were English prose fiction, 2,664 were juvenile books, 352 were books in foreign languages, and 298 in all other classes. In Appendix B is shown the classification of the accessions of the year and the extent of each class in the Library.

The amount expended for books was $12,448.00. Among the books of more permanent value added to the reference collection were the following: Ardouin-Dumazel. Voyage en France, 36 vols.; Caw. Scottish Portraits, 2 vols.; Evans. American Bibliography; Foster. Miniature Painters, 2 vols.; Great Masters in the Louvre Gallery, 2 vols.; Hamy. Galerie illustrée de la Campagne de Jésus, 8 vols.; Hasak. Geschichte der deutschen Bildhauerkunst; Heine. Works, 16 vols.; Montaigne. Essays, 3 vols.; Navy Records Society Publications, 21 vols.; Poe. Complete Works, 10 vols.; Poole. Historical Atlas of Modern Europe; Spencer. Complete Works, 9 vols.; Turner. Water Color Drawings in the National Gallery; Waldseemüller. Die älteste Karte mit dem Namen Amerika; Whitman. Complete Works, 10 vols.

DONATIONS.

The gifts to the Library during the past year comprised 1,577 volumes and 1,842 pamphlets. From the Hon. Hempstead Washburne was received a most interesting and valuable donation to the historical collection in the Library, consisting of sixteen volumes of documents and newspapers relating to the Franco-Prussian war. These volumes contain material which was collected in Paris during the siege of 1870-71 by the late Elihu B. Washburne, at that time United States minister to France, and comprise copies of the proclamations issued by the Government of the National Defense and the Commune during the period of the Siege, and copies of the newspapers published in Paris during that period. Also a volume of French caricatures and a collection of newspapers published in the South during the late Civil War. Among the other principal donors were the Hon. Carter H. Harrison, 328 volumes; the British Patent Commissioners, 115 volumes; W. B. Wickersham, 120 volumes; Miss H. L. Cady, 38 volumes; George P. Guenther, 29 volumes; Miss Rosa Lenerf, 33 volumes; the Michigan State Library, 22 volumes and 29 pamphlets; the New York State Library, 67 volumes and 14 pamphlets; Xavier Free Public Society for the Blind, 36 volumes. From the various departments of the United States Government were received 473 volumes and 426 pamphlets.

CIRCULATING DEPARTMENT.

The circulating department was open for the delivery of books on 304 week-days, from 9 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. The total home circulation was 1,199,602 volumes, an increase of 34,014 over the previous year. The daily average circulation was 3,959 volumes, against a daily average of 3,872 reported last year. The largest number of books issued on any one day was 6,993, on February 13, 1904; the smallest number 2,442 on July 25, 1903. The amount received from fines paid by delinquent borrowers was $6,634.78. The number of notices sent to borrowers and guarantors was 11,047. The home circulation of the past two years, month by month, is shown in the following table:

REGISTRATION.

The total registration during the two years ending May 31, 1904, was 66,165. There were canceled during that period, for various reasons, 5,899 cards, leaving the number of "live cards" outstanding at the close of the year at 60,266. The classification of the registration by sexes shows that 35,773 cards were issued to males and 30,392 to females. Of the total number of cards issued during the year 15,339 were applied for at the main Library and 19,783 at the delivery stations.

On June 25, 1903, the following amendment to the by-laws governing the issuance of library cards was adopted: "Special privilege cards may be issued to teachers in the public schools entitling the holder to draw six books at a time for the use of pupils, subject to the general rules governing the circulation of books." Under this rule 468 cards were issued to teachers in the public schools during the year.

DELIVERY STATIONS.

The entire circulation of books through the sixty-nine delivery stations in operation during the past year was 662,896, an increase of 39,924 over the previous year. Until November 1, 1903, only three delivery wagons were used in transporting the books to and from the stations and it was possible to make only a tri-weekly delivery to each station. On November 1 two additional wagons were put into service and since that time a daily delivery has again been maintained. Only one additional station has been opened during the year, making sixty-nine now in operation. Of these twelve are located in the North Division, twenty-five in the South Division, and thirty-two in the West Division. The amount expended for the compensation of station-keepers was $11,849.08.

A new feature in the development of the delivery station system is the interest which certain mercantile and manufacturing establishments have taken in securing the benefits of the Library for their employes. The firm of Sears, Roebuck & Co. has opened in its establishment a fully equipped delivery station for the use of its large force of employes. The circulation of this station alone during the year was 15,290 volumes. The International Harvester Company (McCormick Works) has made a similar arrangement for its employes, and the greater number of the 19,147 volumes circulated through the Gad's Hill Settlement station were drawn for their use. The Sherwin-Williams Company of Pullman obtains books for its employes through the station located at that place. The firms of Marshall Field & Company and Mandel Brothers, whose stores are located within two blocks of the main Library, guarantee the applications of any of their employes who may wish to obtain a library card.

In Appendices C and D are given detailed statistics of the various stations showing their location and the persons in charge.

DEPARTMENT OF PATENTS AND PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

The attendance in the patent room numbered 20,970 readers. The recorded use of patent office reports was 88,065 volumes and of public documents 8,682 volumes. There were also used in this department 4,369 volumes of bound newspapers and 1,041 volumes of certain scientific magazines which are kept in this department.

BOOKS FOR THE BLIND.

The collection of books for the blind now in the Library numbers 825 volumes, an increase of 49 volumes over last year. There were issued for home reading, chiefly through the delivery stations, 901 volumes. For reference use in the main Library 58 volumes were called for.

REFERENCE ROOM.

The resumption of the evening service in the reference room on November 1, 1903, is shown in the large increase in the attendance and in the use of books since that time. The recorded attendance for the entire year was 111,791, an increase of 22,994 over last year. The number of volumes issued from the stack rooms for reference use was 314,150, an increase of 60,561. No record was kept of the use of open-shelf books. The average number of readers in the room at the close of each hour from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. was 73. The largest attendance was at 3 o'clock p. m., the average number of readers throughout the year at that hour being 115. In the special room for art books 30,758 volumes were consulted by 9,189 readers, being an increase of 14,884 volumes and 4,696 readers over the report of last year.

READING ROOM.

The average attendance in the reading room at the close of each hour from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. was 212. The largest attendance was at 3 o'clock p. m., when the average number of readers in the room, throughout the year, was 292. As nearly all the periodicals and newspapers are kept on open stands and racks, to which the public has direct access, no count could be kept of their use nor of the number of people using them.

The amount expended for newspapers and periodicals for all the reading rooms was $4,652.51. In Appendix F is given a list of the serials which are donated to the Library. The nationality and frequency of publication of the 1,180 periodicals on file in the main reading room is shown in the following table:

BRANCH READING ROOMS.

The reading room located at No. 5315 Lake avenue was closed on January 1, 1904, and the books and periodicals contained therein were removed to the new Blackstone branch library. The hours during which the various reading rooms were open to the public were from 12 m. to 9 p. m. on week-days and from 12 m. to 6 p. m. on Sundays and holidays. The aggregate attendance at the five rooms in operation during the year was 170,195. The issues of periodicals numbered 150,890 and of books 74,461 volumes. The collections of reference books in the various rooms was increased by 909 volumes consisting chiefly of bound periodicals. In the following table are given the detailed statistics of each room:

FINDING LISTS AND CARD CATALOGUE.

The following publications were issued by the Library during the year: Three bulletins (Nos. 63, 64 and 66) containing titles of the new accessions; a revised edition of special bulletin No. 2 consisting of reading lists on Hallowe'en, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas and New Year's Day; special bulletin No. 4 on William Shakespeare; two sections of the revised edition of the finding lists comprising Geography and Travels (150 pp.) and Poetry, Drama, Essays and Collected Works (125 pp.). The amount derived from the sales of finding lists and bulletins was $570.61.

The preparation of the public card catalogue which had been considerably retarded during the eighteen months prior to November 1, 1903, has, since the latter date, been steadily resumed, and cards for nearly all the principal subjects in the divisions of arts and sciences, and political and social science have been prepared and placed in the catalogue cases in the reference room. The Library of Congress printed cards, chiefly of the newer copyrighted books, have been used to the number of about 19,000 in both the public card catalogue and in the official catalogue. The latter catalogue has been kept up to date and complete as to author, title and subject entries.

BINDING.

The number of books sent to the various binderies with which the Library has contracts was 23,159. Of these 18,705 were newly bound or rebound and 4,454 were resewed in the old covers. The amount expended for binding was $10,002.80. In the repair department at the Library the attendants repaired 54,325 volumes; 3,528 were repaired at the binderies. There were relabeled during the year 65,050 books.

ADMINISTRATION.

The number of persons in the employ of the Library on June 1, 1903, was 146. On account of the resumption of the evening service in the reading and reference rooms, and the increased number of deliveries of books to the stations, beginning with November 1, 1903, it was found necessary to increase the number of employees. On June 1, 1904, therefore, the number of persons in the service was 160, and there were 8 outstanding requisitions upon the Civil Service Commission for persons to fill vacancies, making a complete roster of 168 persons. The amount expended for salaries, including the engineer and janitor service, was $115,002.13.

ANNUAL INVENTORY.

The annual inventory which was taken during the winter months, in the usual manner, without closing the Library, shows 336 books unaccounted for. Of the 512 books unaccounted for at the time of the last annual report 127 have since been found. There have also been found 6 books reported missing in previous years.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK H. HILD,

Librarian.

Chicago, June 27, 1904.

THIRTY-THIRD ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
BOARD OF DIRECTORS
OF THE
CHICAGO PUBLIC LIBRARY

TO THE HONORABLE THE MAYOR AND MEMBERS OF THE CITY COUNCIL:

Gentlemen:—In accordance with the requirements of the State Library Act, the Board of Directors of the Chicago Public Library herewith presents its thirty-third annual report of the operations of the Library ended May 31, 1905.

The increase in the work of the Library noted last year has continued throughout this year, the circulation of books for home use having been 1,336,199 volumes, against 1,199,602 volumes for the previous year. There were on the shelves on May 31, 1905, 304,510 volumes. There were added during the past year 22,879 volumes: by purchase, 18,436; by gift, 2,097, and from the reading rooms (bound periodicals), 2,191. The number of volumes worn out and withdrawn from circulation was 8,002, leaving the net additions 14,233 volumes. The amount expended for books was $19,884.79. The entire expense for the maintenance of the Library was $217,502.50.

Since the last annual report the Library Board has come into possession of the larger part of the money bequeathed to it by Hiram Kelly, whose will was filed for probate March 5, 1889. The whole amount of the bequest will be about $197,825, which, under the terms of the will, must be kept intact, the income only to be used by the Board.

Believing that the interests of the people will be best served by placing the books as near the home as possible, the Board, at the solicitation of south side citizens and with the co-operation of the park commissioners, has considered the question of opening branch reading rooms and delivery stations in several of the recreation buildings of the south park system, these recreation buildings thus becoming centers not only of recreation, but of intelligent, well-directed effort toward the mental and moral uplift of the people. The patrons of these parks and buildings are largely boys and girls.

Those boys who give some time, if only one hour, each day to good books are practically saved from the current vices about them, and the girls who devote the same amount of time to biography or current literature are acquiring information and forming habits which will make them intelligent, cultured women fitted to be the mothers of our future great citizens. Such perusal and study beget a love, a veneration for books which lifts one above the sordid struggle for mere existence and places him in the company of all the great and good men and women who have gone before, and who for the time being become his friends and companions.

More than half of the home circulation of books has been through the delivery stations, of which there are sixty-eight, located in centers of population at a distance from the main Library. Books are delivered daily to these stations and at many of them books called for in the morning are exchanged and returned the same day; the Board having replaced its horses and wagons with automobiles in order to make this daily exchange of books possible.

Like the corporate departments of the city, the Public Library Board has for many years been compelled to sell anticipation warrants against its tax levy in order to obtain money with which to meet its current obligations. On January 1, 1902, seventy-five per cent. of the tax levy of the previous year had been sold, virtually leaving the Board nothing with which to meet its obligations during that year. The Board then inaugurated a system of economy by closing the Library on Sundays, holidays and evenings, by discontinuing one-half of the deliveries to the outlying stations and by laying off almost one-third of the number of its employees. The remaining employees showed their great interest and loyalty by voluntarily contributing one month's services without pay in order to assist the Directors in carrying out a policy of retrenchment which would eventually place the finances of the Library in such shape that the sale of anticipation warrants would be unnecessary. The Board has consistently adhered to a policy of economy and is pleased to report that the amount of tax warrants sold during the year 1904 was only $120,000, as against $187,500 the preceding year. By strictly pursuing this policy it will not be long until the Library's finances will be on a firm cash basis.

We wish also to report that, through the efforts of the Library Board, a bill was passed by the last Legislature authorizing the establishment of a pension fund for the employees of the Library. The bill makes it the duty of the Board to create a fund by deducting from the salaries of such employees as voluntarily choose to become beneficiaries, such a per cent. as shall be fixed by a board of trustees provided for in the act, and by paying into such fund such miscellaneous receipts as the Board shall determine.

The Board also maintains the policy of establishing branch reading rooms and delivery stations in various parts of the city. As heretofore mentioned, certain moneys have been received by bequest, but under the terms of the will the principal must be invested in interest-bearing securities, the income only to be used for Library purposes. This provision prevents the Board from using these funds to acquire proper buildings for branch libraries. Application was made to the last Legislature to pass a bill authorizing the sale of bonds for this purpose, but too late to get any action at that session. However, the Board will endeavor at the next meeting of the General Assembly to secure the passage of an act authorizing the sale of bonds for the purpose of procuring funds for the construction of branch library buildings, and we ask the City Council of the City of Chicago to co-operate with us, as we believe that such branch libraries in various parts of the city will be of more benefit to the general public than is the main Library, taking into account the size of the city and the cost in time and money required to reach it from outlying districts.

The Library Board again calls your attention to certain moneys due it from the city, amounting in all to $64,452.34. We call upon your Finance Committee, which is familiar with all the details, to insert this amount in the next appropriation bill so that the Library fund may be reimbursed.

For details of the financial condition of the Library and its operations during the past year we refer you to the reports of the Secretary and Librarian hereto appended.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN.

TO THE DIRECTORS OF THE CHICAGO PUBLIC LIBRARY:

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to submit herewith the thirty-third annual report covering the operations and statistics of the Library for the year ending May 31, 1905.

The growth and work of the Library during the past year shows a steady increase in all of its departments. The improvement in the financial affairs of the institution has enabled the Board to pursue a more liberal policy in the purchase of books. Additional copies of books most in demand as well as the replacement of worn-out copies has made it much easier to meet the demands for books for home reading. The aggregate use of books in all departments of the Library was 1,937,320, an increase of 216,134 over the number reported last year. These figures do not include the use of books kept on the open shelves, to which readers have direct access, and of which no record can be kept. Following the order of previous reports, the detailed statistics of each department are given below. A condensed summary of the growth and work of the Library since 1874 is given in Appendix A.

GROWTH OF THE LIBRARY.

The entire number of volumes in the Library on May 31, 1905, was 304,510, a net increase of 14,233 over the number reported at the close of last year. The total number of volumes entered in the accessions catalogue was 22,879, of which 18,436 volumes were purchased, 2,097 were donated, 2,191 were acquired by binding periodicals from the reading rooms, and 155 were received by exchange and from other sources. The number of unbound pamphlets on hand is 58,834, an increase of 3,456 over last year's report. Of unlisted duplicates, comprising chiefly government documents and state publications, there are about 6,000 in the collection.

There were deducted during the year from the total number of volumes in the Library the following items: Books worn out and withdrawn from circulation, 8,002; books lost and paid for, 381; books unaccounted for in the annual inventory of 1903-4, 225; books not recovered from delinquent borrowers in 1903-4, 38. Of the books worn out and withdrawn from circulation 3,730 were English prose fiction, 3,028 were juvenile books, 839 were books in foreign languages, and 405 in all other classes. The classification of the accessions of the year and the extent of each class in the Library is shown in Appendix B.

The amount expended for books was $19,884.79. Among the numerous additions to the reference collection, comprising some valuable books purchased with fund moneys, the following are worthy of mention: Archivio storico del^e Arte, 10 vols.; Armstrong. Musical Instruments; Baesler. Ancient Peruvian Art, 4 vols.; Binion. Ancient Egypt or Mizraim, 2 vols.; Burke. Historical Record of the Coronation of Edward VII.; Chaucer. Works (facsimile of 1st edition, 1532); Davies. Hans Holbein, the Younger; Donnelley's Sectional Atlas of the City of Chicago, 2 vols.; Doughty. Siege of Quebec, 6 vols.; Durel. Mes cent Relieures; Espony. Fragments d'Architecture antique et du Moyen Age, 2 vols.; Feldegg. Moderne Kirchen-Decorationen, 2 vols.; Fischbach. Die wichtigste Webe-Ornamente, 3 vols.; Fraipont. Le Modèle recueil, 10 vols.; Gardner. Old Silver Work; Hartung. Motive der mittelalterlichen Baukunst, 3 vols.; Henderson. James I. and VI.; Historians' History of the World, 25 vols.; International Catalogue of Scientific Literature; International Library of Technology, 45 vols.; Jouin. Les Chefs-d'Oeuvre, 5 vols.; Lacroux. La Brique ordinaire au point de vue decoratif, 2 vols.; Nordisk Familjebok, 20 vols.; Pergamon-Museum; Richter and Taylor. The Golden Age of Classic Christian Art; Ricketts. The Prado; Rooses. Rubens, 2 vols.; Sargent's Works; Shakespere. Works (facsimiles of 1664 and 1685 folios); Stanford's London Atlas of Universal Geography; Svenskt Porträt-gallerei, 16 vols.; Tajima. Masterpieces from the Korin School, 2 vols.; Tajima. Masterpieces by Motonobu, 2 vols.; Tajima. Selected Relics of Japanese Art, vols. 1-10; Wilpert. Die Malereien der Katakomben Roms, 2 vols.

BEQUESTS AND DONATIONS.

By the death of the widow of the late Hiram Kelly the Library received during the year the sum of $20,000. Upon the final division of the estate this sum will be increased to about $200,000, as the Library was made residuary legatee of his estate by Mr. Kelly. This is the largest bequest ever received by the Library, and under the terms of the will the income therefrom is to be used by the Board of Directors in such manner as it may deem best for the benefit of the Library.

The gifts of books to the Library during the year comprised 2,097 volumes and 2,306 pamphlets. The most important gift received was from the Hon. Hempstead Washburne, who presented 55 volumes of letter-press copy-books containing the private and official correspondence of his father, the late Elihu B. Washburne, U. S. minister to France from 1868 to 1877. The volumes covering the period of the Franco-Prussian war are of especial historical interest. Hon. Carter H. Harrison presented 188 volumes. Among the other principal donors were George W. Barker, 59 volumes; Mrs. T. B. Blackstone, 10 volumes; University of Chicago, 23 volumes; Gurley, Stone & Wood, 13 volumes, comprising a complete set of briefs, etc., on the traction question in Chicago; Illinois Secretary of State, 35 volumes; Louisiana Purchase Exposition Commission, 34 volumes; Hon. J. R. Mann, 34 volumes; W. S. Merrill, 27 volumes; New York State Library, 72 volumes; Julius Rosenthal, 20 volumes. From a Bohemian society (Ceska Straz) the Library received 215 volumes in the Bohemian language to be placed in the new branch reading room in Blue Island avenue. From the various departments of the U. S. government at Washington were received 360 volumes and 556 pamphlets. The British Patent Commissioners gave 95 volumes of their publications. Mr. Charles A. Plamondon, a former President of the Board, presented a beautiful artist's proof copy of Marshall's engraving of Abraham Lincoln, which was hung in the Directors' room. Mr. Henry J. Brown, of London, presented a bronze medallion portrait of the late Thomas F. Bayard. A complete list of donors is given in Appendix E.

CIRCULATING DEPARTMENT.

The circulating department of the Library was open on 304 week-days during the year. The department was closed on Sundays and holidays and the hours on other days were from 9 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. The total number of works issued for home use was 1,336,199, an increase of 136,597 over the previous year. The daily average circulation was 4,410 volumes, against a daily average of 3,959 for last year. The largest number of books issued in any one day was 6,340, on April 5, 1905; the smallest number, 3,110, on June 25, 1904. There was received from fines paid by delinquent borrowers $6,732.20. The number of notices sent to borrowers and guarantors was 10,820. The home circulation for the past two years, month by month, is shown in the following table:

1904-1905				1903-1904.

REGISTRATION.

The total registration during the two years ending May 31, 1905, was 73,368. With the first of the 14th series of library cards, which was issued on June 1, 1904, the life of a card was extended to three years instead of two years as heretofore. Deducting 5,998 cards, which were cancelled for various reasons, the number of live cards outstanding at the close of the year was 67,370, an increase of 7,104 over the previous year. The classification of the registration by sexes shows that 39,286 were issued to males and 34,082 to females. Of the total number of cards issued during the year 17,646 were applied for at the main Library and 20,600 at the delivery stations.

In September, 1904, the privilege granted to teachers in the public schools to draw six books at a time for the use of pupils was extended also to teachers in regularly organized private schools in this city. The number of teachers' cards issued during the year was 441, making a total of 909 such cards outstanding at the close of the year.

DELIVERY STATIONS.

The circulation of books through the sixty-eight delivery stations in operation during the year was 788,657 volumes, an increase of 125,761 volumes over the previous year. The increase in the circulation is in a large measure due to the improvement of the service brought about by the purchase of a motor wagon in November, 1904. This motor wagon, with a carrying capacity of 2,500 pounds, it was soon found, would do the work of two delivery wagons and four horses. After a satisfactory trial of six months two additional machines were ordered and the entire equipment of wagons and horses was sold. The Library will soon be able to establish a daily return delivery to each one of the stations formerly reached only once a day by wagon, and this improvement of the service is bound to result in a still greater use of books.

To the number of mercantile and manufacturing establishments which were mentioned in the last report as having established closer relations with the Library for the benefit of their employees have been added the following: R. R. Donnelley & Sons Co., the Chicago Telephone Company (4 branches), The Fair, and the Cable Company. The social settlements at Gad's Hill and the Chicago Commons were granted permission to draw books in quantities for use in the reading rooms in these institutions.

There was expended for compensation of delivery station keepers and salaries of drivers of the delivery wagons the sum of $12,-968.96. For detailed statistics of the various stations showing their location and the persons in charge consult Appendixes C and D.

REFERENCE ROOM.

The recorded attendance in the Reference room was 128,643 readers, an increase of 16,852 over the previous year. The number of volumes issued from the stack rooms for reference use was 352,856, an increase of 38,706 volumes. No record was kept of the use of the books on the open shelves nor of the number of persons consulting them. The average number of readers in the room at the close of each hour from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. was 73. The largest attendance during each day was at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the average number of readers at that hour being 113. The special room for art books was visited by 9,755 readers, who consulted 33,043 volumes.

PATENT REPORTS AND PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

The attendance in the Patent and Public Documents room numbered 21,758 readers. The recorded use of patent reports was 84,489 volumes and of public documents 9,140 volumes. Of bound volumes of newspapers 4,919 were consulted in this room and 1,145 volumes of certain scientific serials, which are stored in this department. The rapid growth of the collection of bound newspapers in the Library made it necessary to provide more shelving, and in March, 1905, two steel newspaper stacks with roller shelving were ordered. These two stacks will provide additional shelf room for about 1,200 bound volumes of newspapers.

BOOKS FOR THE BLIND.

The collection of books for the blind was increased by 86 volumes during the year, the number now in the Library being 911. Three styles of raised print are chiefly represented in this collection, the Moon type, the American line and the American Braille. There were issued for home reading 859 volumes of these books, and 107 volumes were given out for use at the main Library.

READING ROOM.

The average number of readers in the reading room at the close of each hour from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. was 215. The largest attendance throughout the year was at 3 o'clock p. m., when the average attendance numbered 284 persons. It is impossible to give an accurate report of the number of newspapers and periodicals consulted in this room, as all the more popular serials are kept on open files and racks, where readers have direct access to them. The reading room was closed on only two days during the year, July Fourth and Christmas. The week-day hours are from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. and the Sunday and holiday hours from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The amount expended for newspapers and periodicals for the reading room at the main Library and for the Blackstone branch and the six branch reading rooms was $5,136.80. In Appendix F is given a list of the serials which are donated to the Library.

The nationality and frequency of publication of the 1,228 periodicals on file in the main reading room is shown in the following table:

BRANCH READING ROOMS.

In response to urgent demands from the citizens residing in the vicinity of Blue Island avenue and 18th street, a branch reading room was opened at 543-545 Blue Island avenue on September 1, 1904. The room, which is located in a thickly populated section of the city, at once became one of the best attended of the six branch reading rooms operated by the Library. The aggregate attendance in the six rooms during the year was 240,277 readers, an increase of 70,082 over the previous year. The number of periodicals issued was 173,989 and the number of books used 115,422. The average attendance on Sundays and holidays was 93 readers. The collection of books for reference use in these rooms now numbers 10,213 volumes and the number of periodicals on file is 627. In the following table are given in detail the statistics of each room:

BLACKSTONE MEMORIAL BRANCH LIBRARY.

The number of volumes in the Blackstone Memorial Branch Library on May 31, 1905, was 4,741. On April 1, 1905, the circulating department of the branch was opened for use of the public and during the last two months of the library year 3,017 volumes were issued, in addition to 1,319 volumes circulated from the branch through the delivery stations department. The mean attendance per hour throughout the year was 19 readers, and the average maximum attendance was 42. As this is an open-shelf library, where the readers have direct access to the books and periodicals, no record of their use on the premises was kept. In December, 1904, Miss Mary W. Wood was appointed librarian-in-charge of the Blackstone branch, as the result of a promotional examination, which was open to employees of the Library in the first and second grades.

FINDING LISTS AND CARD CATALOGUE.

The publications issued by the Library during the year comprised the following: Four quarterly bulletins (Nos. 65, 67, 68 and 69), containing titles of the newer accessions; a special bulletin on Municipal Government, prepared with reference to the new charter movement in Chicago; two reading lists on Summer Sports and Pastimes, and Nature Study. A section of the revised finding list comprising Language and Literature is in press. A number of sections of the finding lists were reprinted. A third edition of 10,000 copies of the catalogue of English Prose Fiction and Juvenile books with supplement was also printed. The amount realized from the sale of the various publications of the Library was $616.29.

The public card catalogue in the reference room has been strengthened by the addition of many cards covering subjects not heretofore treated in this catalogue. The value of the public card catalogue in enabling readers to get fuller information about the resources of the Library than the finding lists give is apparent by the large number of persons who use it. Many of the cards are already showing signs of much use and guide cards have frequently to be renewed. The Library has continued to purchase the printed cards of the Library of Congress so far as they could be used. In the preparation of the newer copyrighted books for the shelves, these cards have saved much time and labor in the cataloguing department.

BINDING.

The number of books sent to the three binderies with which the Library has contracts was 26,563. Of these 22,375 were newly bound or rebound and 4,188 were received in the old covers. The amount expended for binding was $12,136.34. In the repair department the attendants repaired 42,589 volumes; 4,844 were repaired at the binderies. There were relabeled during the year 77,313 books.

ANNUAL INVENTORY.

The annual inventory was taken during the winter months, without interrupting the operations of the Library, and showed 289 books unaccounted for. The previous annual report showed 336 books unaccounted for, but 111 of these have since been found.

ADMINISTRATION.

The total roster of persons in the employ of the Library on June 1, 1904, was 168. During the year the transfers, dismissals and resignations numbered 43, exclusive of transactions concerning temporary employees. To fill these vacancies the Civil Service Commission of the city appointed 41 persons, and at the close of the year 7 requisitions for employees were still outstanding. The complete roster on May 31, 1905, therefore, comprised 173 persons, an increase of 5 over the previous year.

The amount expended for salaries, including the engineer and janitor service, but exclusive of drivers employed in the delivery station service, was $125,013.88, against $115,002.13 for the previous year. This increase in the amount of salaries for 1904-05 over 1903-04 is due to the gradual increase of the force in 1903-04, on account of resumption of service in certain departments, the full salary roll of this increased roster of employees first showing in 1904-05.

THE CHICAGO MEDICAL SOCIETY.

In September, 1904, the Chicago Medical Society was granted permission to fit up the room on the ground floor known as the room for the blind and use the same as a lecture hall. During the winter and spring months the society instituted a series of popular Saturday night lectures, which were free to the public and were largely attended. The society also used the room on Wednesday evenings for its regular meetings, which were of a more professional character.

THE MUNICIPAL MUSEUM OF CHICAGO.

In February, 1905, the Municipal Museum of Chicago, by permission of the Library Board, was installed in two hitherto unoccupied rooms on the fourth floor of the Library building. The purpose of the Museum is the promotion of intelligence concerning the administration of cities and the problems of urban life.

The first loan exhibit was contributed by many foreign and American cities, after having been shown at the St. Louis Exposition. The lectures and informal talks which have been given in connection with the exhibits have attracted many interested visitors to the Museum. It is designed to make the Municipal Museum a permanent exposition, the first of its kind in the United States.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK H. HILD,
Librarian.

Chicago, July 24, 1905.

THIRTY-FOURTH ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
BOARD OF DIRECTORS
OF THE
CHICAGO PUBLIC LIBRARY.

TO THE HONORABLE, THE MAYOR AND MEMBERS OF THE CITY COUNCIL, CITY OF CHICAGO:

Gentlemen:

The Board of Directors of the Chicago Public Library herewith presents its thirty-fourth annual report of its operations for the year ended May 31, 1906.

The year has been one of steady work and continued progress, though the latter has been severely hampered by the lack of funds.

The total number of books added to the library during the past year was 26,236 volumes, at a cost of $24,013.53. This was the largest number of books ever added in a single year. Deducting the number of volumes worn out, 6,365, the number lost and paid for, 461, the number delinquent, 78, and the number missing, 232, in 1904-05, the net number added was 19,100 volumes. The total circulation of books for home use was 1,411,106 volumes, being an increase of 5.6 per cent. over the previous year. There was paid for binding books $12,344.31, and for newspapers and periodicals $5,084.14. The total amount expended for maintenance was $232,228.49.

Perhaps the most interesting and valuable gift during the year was that of "Investigations and Studies in Jade," a beautifully illustrated work in two large volumes costing five hundred dollars each to publish. These elegant books were a gift from the executors of the estate of the late Heber R. Bishop, of New York City, who bequeathed his extensive collection of jades and other stones, catalogued and described in this work, to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in that city.

Reference was made in our last report to the bequest of Hiram Kelly which had just been received. The amount bequeathed was \$197,825, to which the Library Board added the sum of \$2,175, from the income of the fund, making the entire sum \$200,000. A part of this bequest consisted of a half interest in the fee of the land under the Brother Jonathan building at the southwest corner of Jackson boulevard and Sherman street, valued at \$160,000. As this land was leased for a long term of years at \$6,000 per year net, the Board purchased the other half interest, paying \$80,000 therefor, thus securing a safe and steady income of $3\frac{3}{4}$ per cent. on the investment. The remainder of the fund, \$40,000, is invested in 5 per cent. city tax warrants. To suitably commemorate the name of the giver of this splendid gift the Library Board has voted to call the first branch library to be built the Hiram Kelly branch.

Negotiations between the South Park Commissioners and the Board, mentioned last year, resulted in an agreement by which the Park Board fitted up a room with chairs, tables, book-cases, etc., in the recreation building of each of three small parks, viz., Hamilton Park, Armour Square and Davis Square, agreeing to furnish heat, light and janitor service free, and the Library Board, on its part, placed an attendant in each room and six hundred dollars worth of choice reference books and popular works of history, biography, fiction, etc. The use of these rooms has exceeded all expectations, and the citizens in the vicinity of other small parks are petitioning the Board to open similar rooms in the parks near them.

In order to bring the work of the Board of Education and that of the Library Board in closer touch the latter Board proposed to open a branch reading room in any public school building which might be offered, furnishing the attendant, furniture and books. The Committee on Buildings and Grounds of the Board of Education, however, declined the proposal on the plea that the funds of that Board could not be used for such a purpose. This refusal is much to be regretted, as the Library Board has for some time been anxious to co-operate with the School Board in its work of education.

The Board realizes the need of additional branch reading rooms in the thickly populated centers of the city, but lack of funds prevents further extension of this branch of our service at the present time. The question of building and equipping branch libraries is also one which the Board has often considered, but for the same reason no steps have been taken in that direction.

The circulation of books for home use from the Blackstone branch library, the only branch in operation, was for the past year 36,343, not including books received through it from the main library.

The circulation of books through the seventy-two delivery stations has constantly increased, the total for the year being 846,802 volumes. The automobile service, introduced a year or more ago, has been found satisfactory, enabling the Library to make a daily delivery of books to each station and to many a return delivery on the same day during a large part of the year.

During the past year the Library Board carried into effect the law authorizing the establishment of a public library employees pension fund, by providing for the election of a board of trustees to manage it and by voting to contribute to the fund one-half of the fines collected from patrons of the Library for retaining books longer than the rules of the Board allow, thus giving encouragement and permanence to the organization which the Board feels will be of great benefit to many of its employees in years to come.

The Library Board would call your especial attention to its lack of funds for legitimate expenses. The function of the Public Library is certainly to furnish books for the reading public; but to place them in the hands of readers requires large outlays for salaries and other fixed charges. These charges having been provided for first, the remainder of the appropriation can be applied for the purchase of books. The Library Board is unable to meet the demands made upon it because this remainder is so small. Out of an appropriation of $400,000 for 1905, only $261,114.64 was realized on account of the operation of the "Juul law." This amount was but a trifle more than was expended and many repairs and improvements about the Library building were necessarily postponed, to say nothing of the impossibility of entering upon any new work, or expanding any department already organized. The Board sincerely requests your co-operation in its endeavor to secure through the new city charter, or through an amendment to the Library Act, such a provision in the revenue law or such an increased rate which may be levied for the Library as shall give it an adequate fund.

In this connection we wish to remind you of the obligation of the city itself to the Library fund for moneys transferred from it to the general fund of the city and for moneys advanced by the Library for the completion of the fourth floor of the City Hall, the whole amount due being $64,452.34. The repayment of this amount would enable the Library Board to build and equip one or more branch libraries.

The details of the finances of the Board and of the operations of the Library are fully set forth in the reports of the Secretary and the Librarian hereto appended.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN.

TO THE DIRECTORS OF THE CHICAGO PUBLIC LIBRARY:

Gentlemen: I have the honor to submit herewith the thirty-fourth annual report covering the work of the library for the year ending May 31, 1906.

The growth of the library in books has been most gratifying, the accessions of the past year being greater than the combined growth of the two previous years. The aggregate recorded circulation in all departments was 2,080,955 volumes, an increase of 143,675 over the number reported last year. These figures do not, however, include the use of books kept on open shelves in the reference room and in nearly all the branch reading rooms. Readers have direct access to these books and it is almost impossible to keep a record of the number of books so used. The activity of the library is shown below in the order of previous reports. Detailed statistics are given in the appendixes following this report.

GROWTH OF THE LIBRARY.

The entire number of volumes in the library on May 31, 1906, was 323,610, a net increase of 19,100 over the number reported at the close of last year. The total number of volumes entered in the accessions catalogue was 26,236, this being a larger number of volumes than were added to the library during any previous year of its existence. Of this number 22,616 volumes were purchased, 1,997 were donated, 1,347 were acquired by binding periodicals from the reading rooms, 213 by binding reports, pamphlets, etc., 23 were taken from the duplicate room and 39 volumes were recovered that had been missing in previous years and had been deducted. The number of unbound pamphlets on hand is 62,876, an increase of 4,042 over last year's report. Of unlisted duplicates, comprising chiefly government documents and state publications, there are about 6,000 volumes in the collection.

The following items were deducted from the total number of volumes in the library during the year: Books worn out and withdrawn from circulation, 6,365; books lost and paid for, 461; books unaccounted for in the annual inventory of 1904-05, 232; books not recovered from delinquent borrowers in 1904-05, 78. Of the books worn out and withdrawn from circulation 3,314 were English prose fiction, 2,293 were juvenile books, 489 were books in foreign languages, and 269 in all other classes. The classification of the books added during the year and the extent of each class in the library is shown in Appendix B.

The amount expended for books was $24,013.53. Among the more valuable additions to the reference collection may be mentioned the following: Almain Armourer's Album; Brentano and Lotz. Münchener Volkswirtschaftliche Studien, 74 vols.; Brünnow and Damaszewski. Provincia Arabia, 2 vols.; Calvert. Moorish Remains in Spain; Colvin. Early Engraving and Engravers in England; Cremer and Wolffenstein. Innere Ausbau, 3 vols.; Der Deutsche Pionier, 18 vols.; Flora and Sylva, 3 vols.; Godefroy. Dictionnaire de l'ancienne Langue française, 10 vols.; Gurlitt. Historische Städtebilder, 7 vols.; Handlering rörande Sveriges Historia, 28 vols.; The Heber R. Bishop Collection of Jade, 2 vols.; Hoffmann. Neubauten der Stadt Berlin, 4 vols.; Howe. Catalogue of British and American Book-plates, 3 vols.; Jahrbücher der Grillparzer-Gesellschaft, 15 vols.; Lambert and Stahl. Architektur; Macquoid. History of English Furniture, 2 vols.; Molinier. Collection Wallace; Molinier. Mobilier français; Mulier. Peinture d'Art Nouveau, 2 vols.; Muthesius. Das Englische Haus, 3 vols.; Olbrich. Architektur; Salvatore. Italian Architecture and Furniture during the 14th-16th Centuries; Schaefer and Stiehl. Muster-giltigen Kirchenbauten des Mittelalters in Deutschland; Schmitz. Drei Kaiserdenkmäler; Shakespeare. Venus and Adonis (facsimile 1593 ed.); Spelman, Lowestoft China; Steinmann. Die Sixtinische Kapelle, 2 vols.; Triggs. Art of Garden Design in Italy; Wetzer and Welte. Kirchenlexikon, 13 vols.

BEQUESTS AND DONATIONS.

The final settlement of the estate of the late Hiram Kelly has given to the library, as residuary legatee, the sum of $177,825, which with the $20,000 received last year makes the entire bequest $197,825. To this has been added $2,175 from the income fund so that what will be known as the Hiram Kelly Fund amounts to an even $200,000. The income from this fund will be about $8,000 a year and may be used for the benefit of the library in any manner that the Board shall direct.

The gifts of the year numbered 1,997 volumes and 3,154 pamphlets. The most valuable gift of books received during the year consisted of two volumes entitled "Investigations in Jade," presented by the executors of the Heber R. Bishop estate. These splendid specimens of the art of printing are beautifully bound in full morocco. The illustrations are in the highest style of the lithographic art and depict numerous articles contained in the Bishop collection of jade now in the Metropolitan Museum in New York. The principal donors of books were the following: George W. Barker, 170 volumes; Mrs. T. B. Blackstone, 14 volumes; Miss Harriet S. Cady, 18 volumes; Carnegie Institution, 14 volumes and 16 pamphlets; Club Français, Chicago, 46 volumes; E. F. L. Gauss, 8 volumes and 19 pamphlets; John Crerar Library, 22 volumes; Hon. James R. Mann, 88 volumes; Michigan State Library, 20 volumes and 25 pamphlets; Murray Nelson, 28 volumes; New York State Library, 112 volumes and 14 pamphlets; Society of the Divine Word, 42 volumes; Mrs. Eugene Wheeler, 11 volumes; Frank B. Zdrubek, 29 volumes. The British Patent Commissioners presented 165 volumes of their publications. From the various departments of the United States Government at Washington were received 493 volumes and 489 pamphlets. A complete list of donors is given in Appendix E.

HOME CIRCULATION.

The Circulating Department of the main library was open on 303 days during the year. The hours on week-days were from 9 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. and on Sundays and holidays the department was closed. The entire number of books issued for home use at the main library, the Blackstone branch, and through the delivery stations was 1,411,106, an increase of 74,907 over the previous year. The daily average home circulation at the main library was 4,548, against a daily average of 4,410 for last year. The largest number of books issued in any one day was 7,189 on February 23, 1906; the smallest number, 3,079 on July 19, 1905. There was received from fines from delinquent borrowers the sum of $7,484.91. The number of notices sent to borrowers and guarantors was 22,236. The home circulation, exclusive of the circulation at the Blackstone branch, is shown in the following tables, month by month, for the past two years:

Juvenile literature	428,976	30.40

REGISTRATION.

The total registration during the two years ending May 31, 1906, was 77,935. The number of live cards outstanding at the close of the year was 70,922, an increase of 3,552 over the previous year. There were canceled for various reasons 7,013 cards. The classification of the registration by sexes shows that 41,087 cards were issued to males and 36,848 to females. Of the total number of cards issued during the year 17,775 were applied for at the main library and 21,914 at the delivery stations. During the year 667 teachers' cards were issued making the number of such cards now in force 1,008.

DELIVERY STATIONS.

Seventy-two delivery stations were in operation during the year. The entire number of books issued through these stations was 846,802, an increase of 58,145 over the previous year. The transportation of books between the library and the stations is now done entirely by motor wagons. There are four of these wagons in service, but a fifth one will be needed if daily return deliveries are to be made to all the stations except those in the suburbs.

The library has continued to supply books to certain mercantile establishments and social settlements named in former reports. One of these, the house of Sears, Roebuck & Co., has drawn a larger number of books during the year than were issued through any one of the delivery stations.

The amount expended for compensation of delivery station keepers and salaries of chauffeurs was $13,272.95. The detailed statistics of the various stations are given in Appendixes C and D.

REFERENCE ROOM.

The number of volumes issued from the stack rooms for use in the Reference Room was 348,727. This does not include the use of the open shelf reference books of which no record was kept. The average number of readers in the room at the close of each hour from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. was 71. The maximum average attendance each day was at 4 o'clock, when 116 readers were present. The largest attendance at any one time was at 4 o'clock on February 25, 1905, when 279 persons were in the room.

The following table shows the record of attendance in the Reference Room, as taken at the close of each hour, in comparison with the preceding year:

	Year. 1905-06.	Year. 1904-05.
10 a. m.	14,432	15,369
11 a.m.	24,540	25,184

8 p. m.	14,474	14,217
9 p. m.	11,461	11,437

Of the books used in the Reference Room 66,712, or 19.1 per cent., belonged to the class of Science and Arts; 56,802, or 16.3 per cent., to History and Biography; 47,476, or 13.7 per cent., to bound Periodicals; 28,764, or 8.4 per cent., to Geography and Travels; 87,828, or 25.1 per cent., to Language and Literature, and 61,145, or 16.4 per cent., to all other classes.

The special room for art books was visited by 24,901 readers, who consulted 77,426 volumes, an increase of 15,146 readers and 44,383 volumes over the previous year. This increase in the use of the Art Room is chiefly due to a series of exhibitions of illustrated books and engravings which have been held in this room during the past year. Each exhibition lasted two weeks, and among the subjects illustrated were the following: Bookbinding, Illuminated Books and Manuscripts, Classic Architecture, Flowers and Landscape Gardening, Renaissance Architecture, Ceramics, North American Indians, Rugs and Tapestry, Costumes, Book-plates, Book-cover Designs and Posters, Cathedrals, Castles and Abbeys, Oil and Water-color Painting, Colonial Architecture and Furniture, Historic Ornament, Furniture and House Decoration.

PATENT REPORTS AND PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

The attendance in the Patent and Public Documents Rooms numbered 23,352 readers. Of patent reports the recorded use shows 95,205 volumes consulted and of public documents 10,716 volumes. Bound volumes of newspapers were issued to the number of 4,869 volumes and also 1,400 volumes of certain scientific periodicals.

BOOKS FOR THE BLIND.

The collection of books for the blind now contains 1,022 volumes, an increase of 111 volumes over the number reported last year. There were taken out for home reading 981 of these books during the year and 57 were used in the main library.

THE READING ROOM.

BRANCH READING ROOMS.

The location of two of the six branch reading rooms was changed during the year. On May 1, 1906, the room formerly at Blue Island avenue and 18th street was moved to 821 S. Ashland avenue, near 18th street, and the room which for many years was at 510 W. Madison street was transferred to much larger and better quarters at the Lewis Institute building, 770 W. Madison street. The aggregate attendance at these six rooms was 273,084 readers, an increase of 32,807 over the previous year. The number of periodicals issued was 198,373, and the number of books used was 131,489. The average attendance on Sundays and holidays was 103. There were added to the collections of reference books in the branch reading rooms 3,331 volumes. The number of periodicals on file is 665. In the following table are given the detailed statistics for each room:

PARK READING ROOMS.

On June 12, 1905, the South Park Commissioners informed the Library Board of their desire to have the Board establish branch reading rooms of the library in the park recreation houses of the small parks in the South Division. The Park Commissioners offered to furnish the rooms free of any cost to the Library Board and to equip them with the necessary furniture. It was voted by the Library Board to establish reading rooms in three of the nine parks offered by the commissioners and to supply the books and attendants for these rooms. Each room was furnished with a well-selected library of about 700 volumes and the Park Commissioners also subscribed for about forty periodicals. During the six months that these rooms have been in operation they have been one of the most popular features of these park recreation houses. At certain hours of the day the attendance is larger than the capacity of the rooms. The location of these rooms and the number of serials and books contained in each, together with the statistics of attendance is shown in the following table:

BLACKSTONE MEMORIAL BRANCH LIBRARY.

There were added to the Blackstone Memorial Branch Library during the past year 2,521 volumes. The entire collection in the branch now numbers 7,262 volumes. The home circulation of these books numbered 36,343 volumes and there were also issued 5,734 volumes drawn from the main library through the delivery stations' service. There are on file in the reading room of this branch 105 periodicals. No record was kept of the use of books and periodicals in the reading room and children's room as readers have direct access to books on the open shelves. The average attendance per hour throughout the year was 19, and the average maximum attendance was 51.

PUBLICATIONS.

The following publications were issued by the library during the year: A section of the revised finding list comprising Language and Literature (191 pp.) ; a special bulletin containing lists of Books for Boys (31 pp.) ; four quarterly bulletins (Nos. 71, 72, 73 and 74) containing the titles of the newer accessions. Four additional reading lists were also published in editions of 3,000 copies of each, for free distribution. The subjects treated in these lists were, Elocution, Oratory, Readers and Speakers; Proverbs, Quotations and Toasts; Indoor Amusements; Gardening.

An illustrated Handbook to the Chicago Public Library was issued in an edition of 10,000 copies. This pamphlet gives a brief historical account of the library, describes its architecture and decorations, and explains the resources and uses of its various departments. Copies have been widely distributed to advertise the library and are kept on sale for the benefit of tourists and casual visitors to the building.

BINDING.

There have been sent to the three binderies which have contracted to work for the library 27,698 books, of which 23,556 were newly bound or rebound and 4,142 were received in the old covers. The attendants in the repair department of the library mended and repaired 49,205 books; 4,866 books were sent to the binderies for repairs only. The total number of books relabeled during the year was 78,288. The amount expended for binding was $12,344.31.

ADMINISTRATION.

The complete roster of persons in the employ of the library, in all of its departments, numbered 177 on May 31, 1906, an increase of four over the previous year. There were sixty transfers, dismissals and resignations. To fill the vacancies created the Civil Service Commission appointed 52 persons. In a number of instances where eligible lists were exhausted authority to appoint persons for sixty days was given pending examination.

The amount expended for salaries, including the engineer and janitor service at the main library, but exclusive of automobile operators, was $127,440.23, against $125,013.88 for the previous year.

ANNUAL INVENTORY.

The annual inventory which was taken in the usual manner shows 535 books unaccounted for. Of the 289 volumes reported missing last year 57 have since been found. There were also recovered 22 books unaccounted for in previous years.

THE CHICAGO MEDICAL SOCIETY.

During the winter and spring of 1905-6 the second series of popular lectures on subjects connected with health and hygiene was given under the auspices of the Chicago Medical Society in the lecture hall at the north end of the building. On nearly every occasion the room proved to be too small to accommodate with comfort all the people who desired to attend these lectures.

THE MUNICIPAL MUSEUM OF CHICAGO.

The Municipal Museum of Chicago, which is housed in two rooms on the fourth floor of the library building, gave a series of interesting exhibits and lectures on certain phases of municipal administration and problems connected with civic government. The exhibit of the National Tuberculosis Society, which was given under the auspices of the Museum authorities in April, 1906, attracted the largest number of visitors.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK H. HILD,
Librarian.

Chicago, July 9, 1906.

THIRTY-FIFTH ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
BOARD OF DIRECTORS
OF THE
CHICAGO PUBLIC LIBRARY

TO THE HONORABLE, THE MAYOR AND MEMBERS OF THE CITY COUNCIL, CITY OF CHICAGO:

Gentlemen: The Board of Directors of the Chicago Public Library presents the following report of the history and condition of the Library for the year ending May 31, 1907, being the thirty-fifth annual report.

The work of the year in the various departments of the Library, and its growth, compare most favorably with any previous years in its history. The number of volumes in the Library has been increased during the year by 24,987. Deducting from this the books worn out and withdrawn from circulation, the books lost and paid for and the books missing, aggregating 9,315 volumes, leaves a net increase of 15,672 volumes. The whole number of volumes in the Library on May 31, 1907, was 339,282.

There has been expended for books the sum of $20,078.07 and for periodicals $5,342.23. The high rank of the reference side of the Library has been maintained by the purchase of many valuable books for the art room. For this purpose the income from the Ryder fund has been used.

The books taken from the Library for home use during the year numbered 1,414,292 volumes. This shows only a small increase over the previous year, as a wide-spread epidemic of scarlet fever during the past winter caused many readers to cease using the Library until the alarm was over. The statistics of attendance at the various reading-rooms, however, show a gratifying use of the Library in those departments. It is impossible to keep an accurate account of the number of books and periodicals used in the reference rooms and in the various branch reading-rooms, since the reading public has unrestricted access to most of the books. The Blackstone Memorial Branch Library shows an increase of over forty per cent. in its home circulation of books. The number of persons holding three-year library cards is 95,889, the largest number recorded in the history of the Library.

The principal addition to the facilities of the main Library during the year has been a room providing separate accommodations for the young people who come to the Library. A large room on the fourth floor has been set aside for the purpose and suitably furnished and equipped with a collection of about 1,600 books, representing the best in children's literature. It is hoped that this will be a means of bringing the teachers and pupils of the public and private schools in closer touch with the Library. To the room has been given the name of Thomas Hughes, the English author, who, after the fire of 1871, was largely instrumental in procuring for the people of Chicago a large collection of books in England, toward the formation of a free library, as a mark of English sympathy.

The Blackstone Memorial Branch Library has been operated during the year at an expense of $7,104.62, including $1,866.03 expended for books. Ten branch reading-rooms, of which four are located in small parks in the South Division, have been open during the year. In addition to the three small park reading-rooms named in last year's report a fourth room was established in Bessemer Park, in South Chicago. Negotiations have been entered into with the West and North Park Commissioners looking to the opening of similar rooms in small parks soon to be provided in the West and North Divisions.

It needs scarcely to be pointed out that the means at the command of the Directors are not sufficient for any important extension of the Library service. If branch libraries and additional reading-rooms and delivery stations are to be established additional means must be furnished, and these branches again, when established, demand additional appropriations for maintenance.

The financial condition of the Library is good, but it will be many years, at the present rate of assessments, before the Board will be able to extend greatly its work in the direction of branch libraries and reading-rooms. The amount of the annual appropriation, voted by your honorable body, for the support of the Library, if available, would enable the Board to build branch library buildings and open branch reading-rooms in thickly populated districts at a distance from the main Library; but the operation of the Junl law is such that less than two-thirds of the amount appropriated is finally levied by the County Clerk.

The Board hopes that the provisions of the revenue sections of the new city charter will operate to secure for the Library a larger fund than heretofore received.

We have frequently called your attention to certain moneys due the Library fund from the city and we again urge that an appropriation of $64,452.34 be made to reimburse this fund, there being no question on the part of your Committee on Finance as to the city's obligation in the matter.

The reports of the Secretary and the Librarian which, as usual, are appended, give in detail a more complete account of the activities and condition of the Library.

From the various departments of the United States government at Washington 337 volumes and 744 pamphlets were received. Mrs. G. A.

Gibbs presented to the Library a handsome green marble pedestal, with revolving top. A complete list of the donors is given in Appendix E.

HOME CIRCULATION.

The Circulating Department of the main Library was open on 302 days during the year. There has been no change in the hours, which are from 9 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. on week-days, this department of the Library being closed on Sundays and holidays. The total number of books issued for home use was 1,414,292. These figures include the circulation at the Blackstone branch. The daily average home circulation at the main Library and through the delivery stations was 4,521, against a daily average of 4,548 for last year. The largest number of books issued in any one day was 7,257, on February 23, 1907; the smallest number 3,042, on July 28, 1906. The amount received for fines from delinquent book borrowers was $8,284.65. The number of notices sent to borrowers and guarantors was 23,085. The home circulation, exclusive of the circulation of the Blackstone branch, is shown in the following table, month by month, for the past two years:

INTER-LIBRARY LOANS.

During the year 137 volumes have been lent to thirty-three libraries by the system of inter-library loans. Requisitions for these books came chiefly from Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin libraries and were generally for books of a scholarly character. No popular books such as ought to be in every public library are lent in this manner.

CLASSIFICATION OF THE CIRCULATION.

The classification of the books issued for home reading, showing the number and percentage of each class, is as follows:

	Volumes.	Pct.
English prose fiction.....	668,677	47.28
Juvenile literature	434,188	30.70
History and biography.....	69,300	4.90
Geography and travels.....	37,620	2.66
Sciences and arts.....	64,209	4.54
Poetry and drama.....	19,659	1.39
Miscellaneous	34,367	2.43
Foreign languages	86,272	6.10
	<hr/> 1,414,292	<hr/> 100.00

REGISTRATION.

The total registration during the three years ending May 31, 1907, was 107,675. There were canceled during this period for various reasons 11,786 cards, leaving the number of live cards outstanding at the close of the year, 95,889. The classification of the registration by sexes shows that 56,433 cards were issued to males and 51,242 to females. Of the total number of cards issued during the year 14,156 were applied for at the main Library and 15,584 at the delivery stations. Teachers' cards were issued to 482 applicants, making the number of such cards now outstanding 1,590.

DELIVERY STATIONS.

Seventy delivery stations were in operation at the close of the year, and the entire number of books issued through these stations was 844,415. The addition of a fifth motor wagon to the delivery service enabled the inauguration of a daily return delivery to thirty-four of the stations. The following mercantile and manufacturing establishments were supplied with books through this branch of the Library service, viz.: Sears, Roebuck & Co., R. R. Donnelley & Sons Co., the International Harvester Company (through Station No. 30W.), the Chicago Telephone Company, the Fair, and the Western Electric Company. The social settlements at the Chicago Commons, Gad's Hill, and the Englewood Free Reading Room received loan collections of books which were deposited in the reading rooms at those institutions for reference use. Four home libraries of fifty volumes each were equipped with selections of popular books and loaned to the Chicago Commons for circulation in tenement house districts near Station No. 24 W. The amount expended for compensation of delivery station keepers and salaries of motor wagon operators was $13,771.46. The detailed statistics of the various delivery stations are given in Appendixes C and D.

REFERENCE ROOM.

The number of volumes issued from the stack rooms for use in the Reference Room was 360,991. No record was kept of the use of the open-shelf books or of the number of persons consulting them. The average number of readers in the room at the close of each hour from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. was 76. The maximum average attendance each day was at 4 o'clock, when 121 readers were present. The largest attendance at any one time was at 3 o'clock on March 9, 1907, when 225 persons were in the room. The following table shows the recorded attendance at the close of each hour, compared with the previous year:

The classification of the books used in the Reference Room shows that 70,509, or 19.53 per cent., belonged to the class of Science and Arts; 60,697, or 16.81 per cent., to History and Biography; 45,052, or 12.48 per cent., to bound Periodicals; 27,279, or 7.56 per cent., to Geography and Travels; 94,346, or 26.14 per cent., to Language and Literature, and 63,108, or 17.48 per cent., to all other classes.

In the special room for art books 89,029 volumes were consulted by 28,924 readers. The exhibitions of illustrated books and engravings continue to attract many visitors to the Art Room. Some of the subjects illustrated during the past year were Pen Drawing and Caricature, Wood-engraving and Etching, Rembrandt, Armies and Navies of the World, Switzerland, Egypt, Italy, Spain, the Vatican, Mexico, France, Germany, South America, Scotland, Birds, England.

READING-ROOM.

The attendance in the Reading-Room at the main Library, based on an actual count of the number of persons in the room at the close of each hour, shows that the average attendance from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. was 197. The maximum average throughout the year was at 3 o'clock p. m., when 282 readers were counted. The largest number of persons in the room at one time was 442, on February 2, 1907, at 3 o'clock.

In the following table is shown the aggregate attendance for the year, at the close of each hour, compared with the report for the previous year:

The amount expended for newspapers and periodicals for the main Library, the Blackstone branch, and for branch reading-rooms Nos. 1-6, was $5,342.23. The serials on file in the park reading-rooms, Nos. 7-10, were supplied by the South Park Commissioners. In Appendix F is given a list of the serials which are donated to the Library by their publishers.

BRANCH READING-ROOMS.

Ten branch reading-rooms were in operation at the close of the year. One new room was opened in May, 1907, at Bessemer Park, in South Chicago, making four of these rooms which are now located in the small parks in the South Division. There is a strong demand for more park reading-rooms and the Park Commissioners of the West and North Divisions are planning suitable rooms for this purpose in the recreation houses which are to be built in those parts of the city. The room at the Lewis Institute, which is the largest of the ten reading-rooms, was equipped with additional furniture, and new books were provided for all the rooms. The collections now aggregate 20,933 volumes, an increase of 7,389 over last year. At the Hamilton Park reading-room Mrs. Mary E. Rae, the assistant in charge, with the aid of some members of the Englewood Woman's Club, inaugurated a series of story-hours for the children. Eleven meetings were held during the year, the average attendance being 67. The record of the attendance at the branch reading-rooms is now kept by counting the number of readers in the room at the close of each hour. The average hourly attendance, with other statistics, in detail, is shown in the following table:

BLACKSTONE MEMORIAL BRANCH LIBRARY.

The librarian-in-charge of the Blackstone Memorial Branch Library presents the following report for the past year :

The report for the year ending May, 1906, showed 7,253 volumes in the Blackstone Branch. During the past year 2,132 have been added and 81 deducted, making a total of 9,304 volumes now in the branch.

All the work connected with adding these 2,132 volumes has been done at the branch, from the ordering of the books to the final preparation for the shelves, including accessioning, classifying, shelf-listing and cataloguing. We have as yet no subject catalogue, as with the present force it has been impossible to touch that part of the work, and the cataloguing of some of the books transferred from the old reading-room still remains to be done. The card shelf-list is used as a classed catalogue, and the books are on open shelves and classified by the Dewey system, so that to a certain extent the disadvantage of being without a subject catalogue is obviated.

The number of books issued for home use was 56,464, as against 42,077 for the previous year, an increase of 34 per cent. Of this number 4,013 were circulated through the delivery stations department. The number of cards issued through the branch was 1,409.

The principal event of the year was the organization of the Blackstone Library League, which was started about the middle of April by enrolling children through three of the public schools in the vicinity of the branch. The league was formally opened with an entertainment at St. Paul's Parish House, which was kindly loaned us for the occasion. The entertainment was in the form of a story-hour, the story of Siegfried being given, illustrated with stereopticon views. The children were much delighted with the story-telling, and the increased attendance and circulation of the children's room show that the league is a great success. The membership of the league to date is 580, over 300 of whom are children who had not previously used the library. Each member received an honor card, and league pin in the shape of an open book in silver with the words "Blackstone Library League."

We hope to retain the interest of the children through two or three such entertainments during the school year, and, if feasible, to hold a story hour in the adults' reading-room on occasional Saturday mornings for whatever numbers the room can accommodate, the children's room being too small for the purpose.

During the winter, framed posters setting forth the advantages of the branch were hung in the neighboring hotels, schools, drug stores and suburban railroad stations, and we feel sure this has resulted in bringing many new patrons to the branch.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY WHISTLER WOOD,

Librarian-in-Charge.

THE THOMAS HUGHES READING-ROOM FOR YOUNG PEOPLE.

The Thomas Hughes Reading-Room for Young People, a room designed to provide separate accommodations for the younger visitors to the main Library, was opened on March 30, 1907. The room is located on the fourth floor in the southwest corner of the building and contains about 1,750 square feet. It has been thoroughly equipped with the necessary furniture and fittings and will accommodate eighty readers. The collection of books, comprising nearly 1,600 titles, is placed on open shelves along the walls, and may be freely examined and read by visitors. The best books in modern children's literature are represented in the collection. A selection of standard works in all classes of literature has been included. The attention of teachers in the public and private schools of the city has been called to this room and their coöperation has been solicited to bring about closer relations between the Library and the schools. Special attention is given by the assistant in charge of the room to those pupils who come to the Library seeking material for essays and debates.

Thomas Hughes, for whom the room is named, was the author of that noted book, "Tom Brown's School Days." He was the father of the movement started in England after the Chicago fire of 1871 which resulted in the donation of a large collection of books to the City of Chicago, toward the formation of a free library, as a mark of English sympathy.

PATENT REPORTS AND PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

The attendance in the room for Patent Reports and Public Documents was 25,409 during the year. The record of books used in this department shows that 102,580 volumes of patent reports and 12,806 volumes of public documents were consulted. Bound volumes of newspapers were consulted to the number of 5,460. There were also issued for use in this room 1,439 volumes of scientific periodicals.

BOOKS FOR THE BLIND.

The collection of books for the blind now numbers 1,108 volumes; 86 volumes were added during the year. There were circulated for home use 866 books in Braille print, 251 in the Moon type, 120 in the Line letter, and 31 in New York point, a total of 1,268 volumes. At the main Library 47 readers used 67 books. The Chicago Woman's Club has recently employed a competent person to teach the adult blind, in their homes, to read books printed in the embossed type, and as a result of his work there will no doubt be a larger demand for these books in the future.

CARD CATALOGUES AND PUBLICATIONS.

The cataloguing of the current accessions to the Library has been kept well up to date and all the necessary cards for both the official and public card catalogues have been prepared. The Library of Congress catalogue cards have been available for about sixty per cent. of the new books received. The work on the subject cards for the public card catalogue, which still remains unfinished, has been practically at a stand for lack of sufficient help. Card catalogues for the ten branch reading-rooms are in preparation and will be ready for use before next winter.

The following publications were issued by the Library during the year: A section of the revised finding lists comprising Fine Arts (108 pp.); four quarterly bulletins (Nos. 76, 77, 78 and 79) containing the titles of the newer accessions; one bulletin (No. 75) of books in foreign languages; three reading lists on Ceramics, Photography, and Domestic Economy. The amount derived from the sale of Library publications was $553.45.

ADMINISTRATION.

The number of persons employed in all departments of the Library service on May 31, 1907, was 181, four more than were reported last year. The amount expended for salaries, including the engineer and janitor service at the main Library, but exclusive of the automobile operators, was $128,977.94, against $127,440.23 for the previous year.

BINDING.

There have been sent to the three bookbinding concerns which have contracted to do work for the Library, 26,732 books, of which 24,002 were newly bound or rebound, and 2,730 were re-sewed in the old covers. The attendants in the binding department repaired 47,841 books; 2,567 books were repaired at the binderies. The total number of books relabeled during the year was 66,788. The amount expended for binding was $12,667.30.

ANNUAL INVENTORY.

The annual inventory shows a larger number of books unaccounted for than usual. The difficulty of taking stock increases from year to year as the collection of books grows larger. At the branch reading-rooms a more liberal policy of free access to the shelves has been introduced and one of the results is the number of books reported missing. The total number of books unaccounted for is 910, of which 612 are missing at the main Library, 146 at the Blackstone Branch (covering a period of two years), and 152 at the branch reading-rooms. Of the 535 books reported missing last year 175 have since been accounted for, as were also 18 books missing in previous years.

LECTURES.

Mr. Carl B. Roden, of the Library staff, has prepared a lecture on the Chicago Public Library, illustrated with numerous stereopticon views, which he has given before several literary and social organizations. It is proposed to have this lecture delivered at the branch reading-rooms in the small parks, in order to advertise the Library and its many facilities for recreation and study.

The third series of popular lectures under the auspices of the Chicago Medical Society was given during the winter months in the lecture room. The attendance at the twenty-one lectures numbered 2,460 persons.

No exhibits or lectures were given by the Municipal Museum during the past year. On May 1st, 1907, the authorities of that institution vacated the rooms which had been occupied by the Museum during the past two years.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK H. HILD,

Librarian.

Chicago July 1, 1907.
